OHIO CONTEST GROWS BITTER

Trouble Promised in Democratic Convention Over Credentials.

RUN BY ZIMMERMAN

Johnson, However, Will Make Hard Fight to Seat Cuyahoga Delegation.

PREPARATIONS FOR VIOLENCE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Columbus, O., Aug. 24.—Delegates to the Democratic state convention to be held here Wednesday began flocking into Columbus today. Tom L. Johnson and John L. Zimmerman, rival candidates for nomination for the governorship, opened their headquarters and the battle is on in earnest. The partisans of the two leaders seem to be about equally divided and there is every indication tonight of a bruising finish.

Zimmerman, who is in personal charge of his headquarters, received hundreds of enthusiastic visitors during the day, and expresses himself as confident of success. Charles P. Salen, Johnson's right hand man, played the host at Johnson headquarters. He said tonight:

"We shall make a clean sweep of it. The contests, even if decided against us, will not change the complexion of things. The anti-Johnson contest in Cuyahoga county is a bluff, and will receive no serious consideration."

The retirement of John W. Bookwalter from the list of candidates for indorsement for the United States senate has undoubtedly injured Johnson. John H. Clark of Cleveland, who the Johnson men are now pushing for this honor, is one of the most pronounced gold Democrats in Ohio, while Bookwalter is an earnest advocate of free silver. The anti-Johnson delegates point out that a ticket with Johnson, Bryan's representative in Ohio, and Clark in the first places would be an absurdity.

The first real business of the convention will be tomorrow afternoon, when the district delegate meetings and the meeting of the committee on credentials will be held. One hundred and fifty delegates go to the candidate who controls the credentials committee. Tonight Zimmerman controls 10 of the 18 members, but the Johnson men are allowing no grass to grow under their feet and there may be a change by tomorrow. There are rumors of actual violence owing to the ill-feeling between the two contesting delegations selected in Cuyahoga county.

Harry Wilson, leader of the conservative element, who is here tonight, says that leading citizens of Cleveland compose his delegation, but that the alternates are largely river front toughs, ready for a fight at any time. He said that he expects the Johnson delegation to offer violence and that his alternates ar ready for them. Everything has been quiet thus far.

Zimmerman, in outlining his platform, said tonight that the instrument should be brief and confined chiefly to state issues. He said it should declare that the Kansas City platform is the law of the party only until it has been replaced by a conservative declaration, which he thinks will be adopted at the national convention next year. Johnson, on the other hand, would have the Bryan platform unequivocally indorsed.

Zimmerman's name will be presented to the convention by Charles W. Baker of Cincinnati, or M. H. Daugherty of Lancaster, two old-line Democrats of prominence. John H. Clark of Cleveland will present Johnson's name.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 24.—(Special.)—Tom L. Johnson declared today that if the convention fails to indorse a Democratic candidate for United States senator he will not accept the nomination for governor.

BIGELOW WILL GAIN HINTS AT WASHINGTON

With Shepard and Knowles He Will Inspect Their Filtration Plant Today.

From a Staff Correspondent.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Director of Public Works Bigelow, Superintendent Sheppard of the water bureau, and Consulting Engineer Knowles of Pittsburg did not arrive here today to inspect the filtration plant being constructed for the District of Columbia. They are expected tomorrow, and arrangements have been made to escort them over the site and explain the work.

A few days ago Col. A. M. Miller, who has charge of the water supply of the district and under whose supervision the filtration plant is being built, received a telegram from Mr. Knowles, asking if it would be convenient for the Pittsburgh party to visit the site Tuesday and inspect the work. Col. Miller replied in the affirmative, and he has arranged to give them every facility for informing themselves regarding the plant. This plant will have a capacity of 75,000,000 gallons daily, and will cost about $3,000,000. It is to be completed December 1, 1904.

TORRID SPELL VISITED CITY

Extraordinary Cool Period and High Temperature Records Are Broken.

HEATCAMESUDDENLY

The Mercury's Rapid Climb Was Stopped By Heavy Rain in Early Evening.

COOLER CONDITIONS TODAY

After a long spell of extraordinary cool weather in this section, during which the light topcoat was a handy article of wearing apparel to keep near at hand, the sun blazed up suddenly yesterday, and, just when the afternoon was well advanced, the mercury shot over the last high temperature mark, and the hottest day in Pittsburgh, so far this year, was declared. According to the record of temperatures kept by the hour in the local weather office, the sun brought his rays to a focus over the city at 4 o'clock, and sent the mercury in the official tube to 93.2 degrees, breaking all former records for the year. The maximum yesterday was also the highest the mercury has reached on the date during the last seven years here.

Previous to yesterday the highest temperature recorded in Pittsburgh this summer was 92 degrees, having been registered on July 4, 5 and 9. The continued cool conditions and the great amount of rainfall were taken by many as an indication of a change in the climate, and the long hot months known in the past were looked upon as a matter of history.

From midnight of Sunday there was every indication that yesterday would be a hot day, but it was only noticed by those whose business it is to keep a record of the weather. At 1 a. m. yesterday the atmosphere was so heated that many persons were kept from sleeping and the heat was so oppressive that windows were thrown open, despite the knowledge that a burglar in all likelihood was prowling about in search of an easy mark.

From midnight to 10 o'clock last night the hourly temperatures were as follows:

Midnight	74 degrees	Noon	90 degrees
1 a. m.	76 degrees	1 p. m.	91 degrees
2 a. m.	75 degrees	2 p. m.	92 degrees
3 a. m.	76 degrees	3 p. m.	92 degrees
4 a. m.	75 degrees	4 p. m.	93.2 degrees
5 a. m.	73 degrees	5 p. m.	91 degrees
6 a. m.	74 degrees	6 p. m.	90 degrees
7 a. m.	78 degrees	7 p. m.	88 degrees
8 a. m.	76 degrees	8 p. m.	86 degrees
9 a. m.	82 degrees	9 p. m.	84 degrees
10 a. m.	85 degrees	10 p. m.	82 degrees
11 a. m.	87 degrees

About 7 o'clock last evening the sky began to cloud over and in a short time there was a heavy downpour of rain which confined for 25 minutes. During the rain there was a fall in the temperature from 90 to 78, a change of 12 degrees. The rainfall amounted to .09 of an inch. For a short time the atmosphere was somewhat cooler, but the mercury again started up the tube and by 8 o'clock it again reached the 80 mark. During the rest of the night the weather was sultry and many residents prolonged their stay on their porches till long after midnight. The temperature yesterday was 11 degrees above the normal for the day.

Pittsburgh was not the only place that suffered from the hot wave yesterday, as cities in both the east and west also reported higher temperatures than have been experienced for some months. The weather was especially hot in the cities west, in which section there were 19 places where the mercury reached 90 degrees or over. St. Louis, Mo., and Louisville, Ky., were the hottest cities in the United States yesterday, each having a maximum temperature of 96 degrees.

The weather indications for today are for showers and cooler and for tomorrow probably fair weather.

E. M. BIGELOW SEES QUAY IN PHILADELPHIA

The Senator Starts for Florida on a Fishing Expedition. Silent on Politics.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 24.—Senator Quay will go to Florida tomorrow or Wednesday. His present intention is to return north about the middle of September. He was in town for a few hours today, and departed for Washington. He arrived in the city early this morning from Schwenkville, where he was the guest of Gov. Pennypacker.

While at his hotel this morning Col. Quay received a call from Edward M. Bigelow, director of public works of Pittsburgh.

"There is nothing for me to tell," was the reply of the senator to a question about his day spent in the company of the governor. "I am on my way to Florida to enjoy the fishing."

He was accompanied to Philadelphia by Mrs. Quay, who, however, will not go south with the senator.

CONTRACT LET FOR KING OF THE LAKES

Monster Ship Will Be 560 Feet Long, Draw 18 1-2 Feet and Carry 10,000 Tons of Ore.

FOR INDEPENDENT SYNDICATE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Cleveland, Aug. 24.—The contract for the largest ore carrier ever built on the great lakes was closed today by A. B. Wolvin of Duluth with the American Shipbuilding Company.

The new steamer will exceed in length over all the largest carrier now afloat by 60 feet. Her dimensions will be as follows: Keel, 540 feet; over all, 560 feet, beam, 56 feet; depth, 32 feet. There will be 32 hatches with 12-foot centers and the bottom will be of hopper shape. The steam power of this giant of the lakes will be created by two R. & W. watertube boilers, and the engines will be of quadruple expansion, type with cylinders of 18½, 28½, 42½ and 66 inches in diameter, with a 42-inch stroke. The cost is estimated at about $500,000, and the contracts call for the completion of the new vessel by the opening of navigation next season. The plans have been drawn with the idea of offering every facility for the use of clamshell unloading machines so that the great cargo of 10,000 gross tons to be carried on an 18½-foot draft will be discharged as rapidly as possible.

In the building of this vessel, Mr. Wolvin represents a syndicate which will operate the steamer independent of any other fleet. The hopper bottom will be something entirely new in lake marine architecture and the purpose of it is to drop the ore into the middle of the vessel in such a way that the clamshells can be used to the best advantage. Another peculiarity will be the increased number of hatches. Twelve is the number common in the larger carriers and these have 24 feet centers. This change is made to further accommodate the use of the clamshells. The only other vessels which approach the new one in size now are the Edenborn, Isaac L. Elwood, John W. Gates and the J. J. Hale.

ST. LOUIS BIDDING FOR TWO BIG CONVENTIONS

Politicians Doubtful of Her Ability to Care for Great National Gatherings.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Ex-Senator Thomas H. Carter of Montana, president of the St. Louis world's fair commission, was in Washington today having just returned from a visit to the president at Oyster Bay. In talking about the two national political conventions next year he said:

"I think both of them will be held at St. Louis. Both parties will find it convenient to cater to the middle west and it is my opinion that they will decide to take the conventions to the world's fair city. We have there halls large enough to accommodate the big crowds and sufficient temporary hotels are now building to provide all the people who care to come there."

Politicians in Washington are not so sanguine as to the ability of St. Louis to take care of the convention crowds next year, when the city will be overcrowded anyhow with visitors who come to the fair. Many who are regular attendants at national conventions prefer Chicago for the reason that the hotel accommodations are ample for any crowd. But Baltimore is making a strong bid for at least one of the conventions and will be a formidable candidate against St. Louis.

CAN SEE NO ONE BUT ROOSEVELT

Senators Scott and Depew Discover No Rival on Political Horizon.

HAS CONFIDENCE OF PARTY

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

New York, Aug. 24.—Senator Nathan B. Scott of West Virginia, who is in the city today, said there was no doubt of the nomination of President Roosevelt by the next national convention of the Republican party. He also said:

"In my opinion Senator Hanna will continue at the head of the national committee and manage the next campaign. He is clearly the best man for the place, and I think the president is well aware of his worth."

"Do you expect to assist at the New York headquarters next year?"

"I haven't thought about it. I'll be in the thick of the fight in West Virginia next summer. I'll have my own campaign for the United States senate on hand, and I couldn't come up here without great personal sacrifice. However, it's impossible to say at this time where I'll be next summer."

"Mr. Roosevelt will be nominated by acclamation," is the way Senator Depew puts the situation in a nutshell. "I am of the same opinion as when I went away. He has made a good president, and has the confidence of his party. There will be some strong man chosen for second place."

"When you went away you said that President Roosevelt's election depended somewhat on the way he handled the postal scandal."

"Yes, I did; and I'm glad to say he is handling it well," replied Mr. Depew. "The scandal does not affect him. He has inherited it, and he is dealing with it, and will continue to deal with it in a way that indicates a strong hand."

TWO HUNDRED CAUGHT BY FLAMES IN FLATS

Residents Were Unable to Escape and Some Were Killed by Jumping.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY, Aug. 24.—Fire broke out this evening in a four-story building, the two lower floors of which were occupied by a fancy goods firm and the upper floors as residential flats. There were 200 work people in the building and the occupants of many of them and of the residents on the third and fourth floors were cut off by the flames. The fire is still burning furiously and it is impossible as yet to ascertain the number of victims.

The residents above, seeing their escape cut off, clung desperately to the windows, screaming for help. The firemen held out sheets of canvas and called to them to jump. Fifteen persons were saved in this way, but many in jumping missed the sheet, nine being killed on the spot, including two children, eight others mortally and two seriously injured.

It is now stated that 120 or more were burned to death, including Herr Goldberg's wife and son. The police announce that by jumping from the windows 13 persons were killed and 16 injured; nine seriously.

A message was received from Pope Pius X., imparting his apostolic benediction.

ARMY PATROL AWAITS ENEMY

Soldiers Will Fight in Defense of Maine Coast.

WATCHING FOR NAVY

North Atlantic Fleet is Under Sail to Attack Portland With Big Guns.

MAY LAND A LARGE FORCE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

Portland, Me., Aug. 24.—At sunset tonight the coast patrol system of the defending forces in the war game was put in operation for the first time since the official notification of the departure of the naval forces for Portland. The patrol consists of detachments from the various companies of the First and Second regiments, and stretches from Fort Preble to Bowery Beach, 10 miles.

Without this precaution the naval forces could land small boats without number in the many small and thickly wooded coves along this vulnerable part of the coast. A heavy artillery company has been assigned to the wireless telegraph station taken yesterday by Maj. Welch.

Fort Preble is considered the key to the whole situation. If the enemy can capture Fort Preble or even the head just to the westward of it the other forts might have to capitulate. But if the enemy captured all the other forts Fort Preble cannot be captured except by a heavy land attack.

The daylight attack on the fortifications will probably be a brilliant affair. Probably the entire fleet under Rear Admiral Barker will participate. The ships will approach the fortifications, and as they come in range all the guns on the shore batteries will open fire. After the first round only one gun of each chase will continue the fire, with full blank charges, while the others will use caps.

Later the fleet will make an attempt at landing a large force of men on the shore. These attacks must be made between midnight Tuesday and noon Friday.

ROCKLAND, ME., Aug. 24.—All the battleships, cruisers and other vessels of the combined North Atlantic fleet, except the collier Marcellus, left the harbor tonight for the attack on Portland. The signals were set on the Dupont Rear-garge for the ships to assume their positions for sailing.

PRINCE MUST DECLARE FOR WAR OR RESIGN

LONDON, Aug. 25.—A deputation left Sofia last Friday to visit Prince Ferdinand, who is in Hungary, to invite him to publicly declare his Macedonian policy, says the Berlin correspondent of the Morning Post. The prince will be allowed 10 days to reply. In the event of his declining it is understood that the deputation bears a mandate from the Bulgarian people to depose him.

KILLED WIFE FOR COMFORT

Dominick Bercella Feared After His Death She Might Suffer Want.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

He Decided to End Their Misery. Stabbed Himself Eight Times.

MADE A HARD FIGHT TO DIE

Dominick Bercella, an Italian, last night shot and killed his wife and tried to commit suicide by stabbing himself eight times. The couple were both suffering from typhoid fever and it was Bercella's fear that he might die and leave his wife unprovided for that caused him to commit the crime. Bercella stabbed himself so badly that the physicians at the McKeesport hospital think he cannot live.

The Bercellas lived in a cabin about midway between Wilmerding and Pitcairn, in a colony of Italians. Bercella was employed in a brick yard. Some days ago he and his wife were seized with typhoid fever, and although the attack was mild, they were unable to do any work. Mrs. Bercella's brother, who lives nearby, provided cooked food for them and he and his wife nursed the couple as well as they could. Bercella was married only eight months, having gone over to Italy and brought his bride back to America with him.

At 8 p. m. yesterday the brother-in-law heard shots in the Bercella cabin. He ran over and found his sister lying dead on the bed and Bercella on the floor in a pool of blood. The man gave the alarm and sent a neighbor to Wilmerding for a doctor. Dr. E. L. Berwick responded to the call.

Mrs. Bercella had been shot just below the heart. After examining the wound the doctor said she must have died instantly. Bercella, after shooting her had taken a stiletto and plunged deliberately to outright suicide. He stabbed himself three times in the left side, and three times in the right side and drove the stiletto into his throat and right ear.

When the doctor arrived three men were holding Bercella on the floor and he was fighting violently to regain the stiletto which they had wrenched from him. Although weakened from loss of blood he fought all the way to the McKeesport hospital in the wagon in which he was carried.

Bercella can speak English, having been in this country several years. He told the doctors that he knew the typhoid fever, from which he and his wife were suffering, would grow worse and leave them both helpless. He feared that he might die and also survive him, without means of subsistence. He had therefore decided to kill her and then himself.

HORRORS GROW IN MACEDONIA

Turks Massacre Many and Commit Unspeakable Atrocities.

REBELS ARE ACTIVE

Doing Utmost to Force Bulgaria to Take Up Their Cause.

DEMAND ON PORTE BY ITALY

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

Sofia, Aug. 24.—Travelers who arrived here this evening from Adrianople, state that a massacre of Christians occurred there Sunday morning.

One version says the guns in one of the forts opened fire on an insurgent band, which had attacked a military outpost. A panic followed inside the town and the Mohammedan population fell upon the Christians.

With rumors of massacre and the murder of prisoners in Monastir now authenticated, the general situation is considered here as fast becoming intolerable. Official and diplomatic circles alike are convinced, having every reason to fear Greek only a part of the horrors enacted in the interior of Macedonia have to come to light as yet.

The revolutionary committee are filling their utmost to force the hands of the Bulgarian government, and the tremendous outlook is exceedingly serious.

It appears that the Turks have obtained the upper hand in the village of Monastir and the insurgents are planning to remove the center of their military chest to the bulgarian frontiers. Dreadful stories today from the disturbed areas are exceedingly gloomy. From Lerin comes the news of a Turkish defeat, and the extension of the revolutionary outbreak from Monastir, the news of Turkish victories accompanied by horrible excesses.

While many of the reports result without confirmation, sufficient evidence daily are forthcoming to cause the gravest anxiety. According to the Sofia Insurgent, the Turks committed unspeakable atrocities at Krushevo.

Women and Children Killed.

The mutilated corpses of 90 women and children were found in one building, pieces of the bodies had been thrown into the street. Fifteen of the principal merchants of the town were killed and their heads exhibited on poles.

At Monastir the churches were demolished, the houses sacked and the town is in a heap of ruins. The people fled to the hills, where they are in a miserable condition.

The Herald also asserts that a general massacre has taken place in the whole village of Monastir. Nearly all the villages have been destroyed. The appalling number of 40 innocent prisoners by their guards near Monastir has come as especially sad impression here.

Many rumors are current of massacres in the city of Adrianople, but confirmation is lacking. The situation there, however, undoubtedly is serious. The population is afraid to leave the houses, the prisons are full and the mill has taken private houses to be used as jails. When the Russian consul protested at the situation, the vali is reported to have answered that he was powerless against the fanatical population.

The Turks are reported to have massacred all the women and children in 25 villages of the districts of Florina and Monastir, and to have afterward burned the villages. They are also alleged to have killed a number of prisoners.

At the village of Armunjsko the Turks destroyed 170 houses out of a total of 240 and massacred every man, woman and child. The women were subjected to the most terrible atrocities by the soldiers.

Entire Garrisons Exterminated.

Anarchy exists at Koprzegrad. Pillage is proceeding everywhere in the unfortunate land. Eight villages to the north of Lerin have been burned by Bulgarian bands, while the insurgents attacked two Turkish posts in the vicinity of the same town and killed their entire garrisons, consisting of 80 soldiers and one officer.

The town of Bunar Hissar has been burned, and a part of the Bulgarian population was massacred. The rest of the inhabitants fled to the mountains. At Burgas station, after 16 hours of fighting, the garrison was killed by the rebels, who also destroyed the garrisons of Hissarlar and Kadjoe. At Karaferia the insurgents killed 87 Turks, while 15 Turks were killed at Kurkudjik, to the depot at Uskub.

The Macedonian organization in Sofia and throughout Bulgaria are busily preparing to take their brothers across the border. It is said that the three committees have buried their differences and are now working in harmony, confident that the rich Bulgarians, who have hitherto withheld their contributions on account of the committees' disagreements, will now give liberally.

The Macedonian leaders admit that the insurrection in the vilayet of Monastir is practically at an end and they appear to pin their hopes on the outbreak of active operations in the territory near the Bulgarian frontier. Within three weeks they assert, eastern Macedonia will be in full revolt, and then the Bulgarian government will be forced to take action.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 25.—According to Turkish advices, when the insurgents captured Vasilitz, in the eastern part of the vilayet of Odrida, they killed the governor, gendarmes or police, and about 150 inhabitants.

The insurgents are now threatening Ohrida, 40 miles northwest of Constantinople, on the Black sea, and are reported also to be attacking the Imperial town of Kirk Kilisseh, 37 miles from Adrianople.

CARRIE NATION LOCKED IN JAIL BY THE POLICE

Supt. McTighe Says He Will Send Saloon-Smasher to Workhouse—Tried to Sell Hatchets in Union Depot.

"I think it's a mean shame that an honest woman cannot be allowed to sell emblems in a free country. I'll not stop, and you won't arrest me. I'll do just as I please. There! Look at that man smoking a vile cigarette right here in the station, and you won't let me sell my hatchets. You're just too horrid for anything."

It was Carrie Nation. She arrived at the Union station yesterday afternoon and began selling hatchets, gotten up in the shape of silk pins, to the hour crowds there at that hour. Carrie was dressed in her accustomed black tight-fitting dress, with black bonnet and ivory gray curls hanging down her back. Business was not very good, but she was determined.

Special Officer William Scanlon saw the woman, and noticed that she was causing an unnecessary commotion. He requested Carrie to leave the depot. The saloon smasher became belligerent and at times abusive. Then she was placed under arrest. It took Scanlon, with the assistance of Officer Richard Dempsey and a dozen bystanders to lead the indignant woman to the call box in the center of the depot. But she was finally lodged in jail. After Mrs. Nation had been placed in Central station, Superintendent of Police John P. McTighe said:

"She's a common scold. She ought to go to the workhouse, and that's where we'll send her. We don't want any crazy people like her around. People took her as a joke at first, but now it's become a serious nuisance. I won't stand for any cranky business. She's going to the workhouse. There's a law against common scolds in this state, you know.

"Why, we had her in here three years ago. We let her go and she promised she would never come back to Pittsburgh again. I called her to just one Pittsburgh off the map as far as she was concerned, and when we had her good box at the station she said she would shake the dust of the city from her feet. Then she went through the motions and we thought we were rid of her for good. Now she's back, and she'll get the worst of it for breaking her promise."

Jews have arrived at the mouth of the Bosphorus from the neighborhood of Midia, fearing a massacre there.

The Italian embassy has notified the porte that it holds it responsible for any injury which may be done to the consul of Italy at Monastir, and demands the punishment of those who insulted the consul recently by calling him "giaour" (infidel).

SOFIA, Aug. 24.—The porte has promised the Italian government satisfaction and the punishment of the Turkish soldiers who were guilty of insulting Count Devisart, the Italian consul at Monastir, by calling him a "giaour." The Turkish officers who failed to intervene between the soldiers and the consul will also be punished.

Insurgents Have Large Army.

According to advices received here, the Bulgarian insurgents now claim to have over 20,000 well armed men at their disposal, and the number, they declare, will soon reach 30,000. They hope to checkmate the Turks by adopting the same tactics as those followed by the Boers in the Transvaal war.

SALONICA, Aug. 23.—An insurgent movement is on foot in the vilayet of Salonica. Large bands are reported to have been organized by Bulgarians, who, it is expected, at a given signal may resort to general incendarism. The Turkish population is resolved, should great disturbances occur, to exterminate all the Bulgarians in this city. Consequently, a number of Bulgarian residents are leaving Salonica.

VIENNA, Aug. 24.—The Neue Freie Presse' Constantinople correspondent telegraphs that a band of Bulgarians has attacked the Turkish town of Urla, south of Inkala, on the east coast of Turkey, and has blown up the government buildings with dynamite. It is reported that 200 persons were killed.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—According to a dispatch from Constantinople to the Daily Mail, all the Turkish military men strongly desire a war with Bulgaria. The mobilization of the army continues on a large scale. The war minister has signed a contract with the firms of Krupp or Mauser for 200 field guns, 200,000 rifles and 300,000,000 cartridges, at a cost of £12,500,000.

WAR ON DAVID B. HILL IS OPENLY DECLARED

New York State Democracy Promises to Be Split in Two Factions.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Open revolt has been started against the leadership of David Bennett Hill within the Democratic party of this state. A war of reprisal is on, and unless a peace is quickly arranged the Democracy in the state and in New York city will lose what chance of success it may now have. The revolt is openly discussed by all the Democratic leaders here, and those from Brooklyn seem to be doing what they can to make peace impossible. Tammany has promised to give assistance to the revolters. The present plan is to prevent Hill from being sent to the next Democratic national convention. As the leader of the Democrats of the state of New York he must be one of the delegates at large. A coalition of forces is being planned, which, if brought about, will keep Mr. Hill from attaining the honor which he thought would be his without asking.

There are many of the Brooklyn leaders, notably Shevlin and McCarren, who will oppose Hill in spite of the influence of Hugh McLaughlin. They are angry because Hill has interfered in the politics of New York city. All over the state there has long been an undercurrent of opposition to Hill, and it looks now as though his political throne were tottering.

RACES AT MONONGAHELA.

Many Fast Horses Entered and 10,000 People Are Expected at the Track.

Horsemen enthusiasts of this section are interested in the reopening of the race track at Monongahela City, and a number of horses from Pittsburgh and vicinity are entered in the events to be decided today on the Monongahela track, under the auspices of the Monongahela Valley Driving association. It is expected that over 10,000 people will be present to witness the races.

Up to yesterday 188 horses had arrived on the grounds and many more are expected to reach the track before the races open. Three events have been arranged for today. They are the 2:24 pace, 2:24 trot and 2:15 pace. Among the horses entered are Lumber Chief, Tyrone Maid, Harry McKay, Ethel Bowen, Woodstock, Miss Norris, Elyria and Heir-at-Law. In each event the purse will be $400. The meeting will continue tomorrow, Thursday and Friday, the association offering $4,800 in all.

WOMAN'S SHOT AT POLICEMAN MISSED

Joseph Rodige and his wife Annie Rodige, Shaler, of Braddock, will be given hearings today on a charge preferred by Michael Ondry, a Braddock policeman. Rodige, it is said, had been firing a revolver in the rear yard of his home. Ondry went to arrest Rodige, when the man knocked down the policeman and the former's wife, securing a revolver, fired at Ondry as he lay on the ground. The shot went wide and struck Joseph Porbou, who was passing, slightly injuring him. The two were fined by Burgess James Purcell, representing the city, after which Ondry made information against them for aggravated assault and battery.

Fire Caused His Suicide.

LISBON, O., Aug. 24.—(Special.)—The body of George B. Phillips, who left his home near Guilford yesterday, despondent over the burning of the barn on the farm of which he was tenant, was found in the woods this evening, where he had committed suicide by shooting himself. The remains had been frightfully mutilated by hogs.

MEN OF AFFAIRS DEMAND ACTION TO PREVENT WIDESPREAD EPIDEMIC

Allegheny Business Men Impress Upon City Officials Gravity of Smallpox Situation.

DR. BATT WANTS RESULTS

Smallpox Seems to Be on the Increase in Pittsburgh — Yesterday's Record a Heavy One—History of a Stranger Being Looked Up.

Allegheny's leading business men are determined that smallpox, which has developed in that city to an alarming extent, shall be eradicated if they can help to do it. A meeting of prominent citizens was held yesterday in the directors' room of the Second National bank, at which Dr. Wilmer R. Batt, state quarantine officer, was present.

While the citizens are bestirring themselves the city administration seems to be rising to the emergency, at least Mayor James G. Wyman seemed determined yesterday not to balk at technicalities, but to do his best to relieve the situation.

The meeting of citizens was called by John M. Davidson, president of the Second National bank. It convened at 11:30 a. m. Among those present were Dr. Batt, Maj. James A. McLaughlin, superintendent of the Allegheny bureau of health; Assistant Postmaster Charles A. Smiley, Assistant City Solicitor Craig Smith, Superintendent of Public Schools John Morrow, R. H. Boggs of Boggs & Buhl, Controller James Brown, Calvin Wells and James Rieley.

Quarantine is Not Maintained.

Mr. Smiley said that the quarantine regulations were not rigidly enforced by the city authorities, for men had been seen coming out of smallpox-infected houses and dropping letters into the mail boxes.

In answer to questions Maj. McLaughlin said that of the cases in the Charles street smallpox district 35 had no doubt originated from the colored girl, named Hall, who was treated by a faith curist without being reported to the bureau of health. Some doctors were also to blame, the major said. He stated that one Allegheny physician had diagnosed a case of smallpox as chicken pox, and at least 27 cases had originated from that faultily diagnosed case.

"I can handle the situation if I have the proper help," remarked Maj. McLaughlin. He also said that doctors had reported vaccinations as having "taken," when the child's arm had only been merely scratched and the virus had failed to inoculate the system.

Asked by Mr. Boggs if compulsory vaccination could be enforced, Craig Smith said that he was not sure that it could. There was a popular impression abroad that it could not be enforced and this belief caused many persons to grow defiant and refuse to allow their children to be vaccinated.

Mr. Boggs said heroic measures ought to be taken, but Maj. McLaughlin believed it would not be altogether fair to disturb the whole school, as suggested, because one of two children had not been vaccinated.

House to House Canvass Needed.

Here Dr. Batt broke in. He said he had no fault to find with the children, but he complained of the non-vaccination of adults. He wanted to see a house to house canvass made. If necessary, he would rope in a suspected district and allow nobody to escape vaccination. Maj. McLaughlin admitted in answer to questions by Dr. Batt, that the house donated by H. J. Heinz for smallpox hospital purposes, in the Eighth ward, had not been used, not only because the remodelling was not completed, but also because of the protests of several citizens in the ward.

In answer to a question by Mr. Boggs, Maj. McLaughlin said that to cope successfully with the smallpox epidemic Allegheny ought to have a municipal hospital costing not less than $50,000. Mr. Boggs said that if an ordinance appropriating that amount was introduced in Allegheny councils he would guarantee ample support from the men present. Dr. Stanley M. Rinehart, county quarantine officer, said that the state board expected Maj. McLaughlin to co-operate with it, and McLaughlin said he had handled epidemics in Allegheny before and could do so again.

"We had reduced the number of smallpox cases in the city to four," said Mayor Wyman yesterday, "and we hoped that if we had it under control when these cases broke out in Charles street. Maj. McLaughlin and I had a talk today. He will go ahead and hire all the quarantine guards necessary, will have every person in suspected districts vaccinated, and in other ways will do everything to prevent the spread of the disease. The funds of the bureau of health are short, but that does not matter. The administration will spend whatever money is necessary to root out smallpox and I have confidence that councils will appropriate the necessary funds. At any rate we intend to go ahead as if we had the money."

Dr. Batt Still on the Alert.

Dr. Batt said last night: "I am very much gratified over the conference I had today with Allegheny's leading business men over the smallpox conditions in that city. We received the promise of Maj. McLaughlin representing the city, that something would be immediately done to prevent the spread of the disease. It now remains for the city officials to fulfill promises, and at once. The state board of health does not intend to fold its hands and consider the Allegheny matter settled. We propose to follow it up to a finish, and see that proper methods are employed.

"The mistaken idea of Maj. McLaughlin that the Allegheny officials are to be likened to sheep marked for slaughter was promptly called by Mr. Boggs at today's meeting, and I am glad it was. Mr. Boggs characterized the Allegheny city hall as entirely too smooth to be mistaken for sheep. But that is not the point. The idea is that we are after no one's head. We are merely working in the interest of the city of Allegheny.

Fair Warning Has Been Given.

"It has been our duty to point out to the citizens and the business men of the city exactly what the situation is over there, and what they may expect now and during the coming winter if remedies are not promptly secured to prevent the spread of the contagion. Now, after this if the citizens and the officials fail of their duty, what steps the state may take will be perfectly justified, as we have given them fair warning.

"It is a mistake to think that just because a meeting was held today, at which the health authorities agreed to do the best they can to stop the spread of the disease, that all the danger is over. The situation is as grave now as it was two days ago, and for that matter even worse, since several new cases developed today. Quick and sure action is the only remedy that will save Allegheny from a smallpox epidemic that will be serious.

"One of the first steps taken by the Allegheny health officials to check the spread of smallpox was to remove from Charles street houses 25 smallpox patients to the municipal hospital, and others are to follow them today. Supt. McLaughlin says that the quarantine he will now establish will be the most rigid known in Allegheny's history. Yesterday afternoon men were detailed to not only disinfect houses where smallpox has broken out, but also all houses in the infected district.

Smallpox in Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh's smallpox statistics show an increase of the disease, and the records of this month, with one week yet to come, shows 120 cases reported. Dr. E. A. Booth, the city physician, stated yesterday that the disease was evidently on the increase; he said that during August, 1902, the total number of cases reported was 94. He attributes the increase to the failure of persons to be vaccinated.

Mrs. Lizzie Holler, colored, 24 years old, of the rear of No. 2325 Webster avenue, who was admitted to the Municipal hospital on August 10, died yesterday. The following new cases were reported yesterday: Bert Armstrong of Mawry, Pa.; Joseph Whitten, aged 20 years, of No. 340 Soho street; Joseph Swan, a negro, aged 20 years, of No. 20 Joseph street; William Grieves, aged 22 years, of No. 3109 Mulberry alley; Antonietta Malla, aged 3 years, of No. 1505 Butler street; Nancy Kennedy, aged 51 years, of No. 2107 Brodehill street; Mrs. Mary Jones, aged 35 years, of Forty-sixth and Hatfield streets; George L. Hunsteck, aged 25 years, of No. 100 Logan street; Lewis West, a negro, aged 21 years, of No. 1 Mercer street; Carl Daniher, aged 2 years, of No. 3065 Brereton street; William Tench, a negro, aged 27 years, of No. 2208 Mulberry alley; May Hug, aged 30 years, of No. 4226 Moffitt street.

Strange Case of Armstrong.

Bert Armstrong, named in this list, walked into Central police station from the street yesterday afternoon. He had been ill about four days. City Physician B. A. Booth took him in charge, and the man told him a story of having come from Altoona in the morning. Dr. Booth, however, looks like a woman escaped from quarantine in Allegheny and came over to Pittsburgh to be treated.

The man told Dr. Booth he was a farm hand and had been working all summer. Dr. Booth said last night that the man's face and hands were very white. He also did not look like a working man. Other stories told by the man were found to be false. An effort will be made to find out where he came from.

Relatives of Anna Spicker, who is quarantined at No. 2746 Penn avenue, stated last evening that they knew that the young woman is afflicted with smallpox is erroneous; that she is merely under quarantine to await developments, as she attended her aunt, Mrs. Barbara Escherich, who died from an acute attack of the disease Sunday morning.

The second case of smallpox in Homestead was discovered by Borough Physician Fry last evening, in the family of Simon Holleran of Gould alley. His 13-year-old daughter, Mary, is the victim.

SMALLPOX DISTURBS SHARPSBURG'S COUNCIL

Two Members of the Board of Health Resign—Lively Special Meeting Last Night.

Sharpsburg's borough council last night took measures to prevent smallpox in that community. The councilmen made two changes in the personnel of the board of health and talked informally of erecting a pest house through joint action of the Allegheny county poor directors with the adjoining borough of Etna and the townships of Shaler and O'Hara. One of the Sharpsburg schools will not be opened for the fall term next week because of the prevalence of smallpox, and it was suggested that the doors of the churches be kept closed and all public meetings be forbidden.

It was a special meeting of the borough council that was held last night. It was quietly called, and was known to few. Only six members were present. The board of health whose resignations were prompted by recent criticism of the people of the borough, James E. Gilbert and E. A. Shoop, tendered written propositions to leave the board, and both resignations were accepted. Col. E. E. Ziegler and D. M. Kirk were appointed to fill the vacancies.

It looked as if the meeting would be brief and that no reference would be made to the warfare which has been waged on against the health officers when Dr. C. M. Kelly, the borough physician, arose and offered his resignation. This came like a bomb to the councilmen, and immediately Dr. Kelly was asked to reconsider his proposition.

"I, as a citizen of this borough and to myself, I think it is my duty to resign," said the doctor. "I have been sway several weeks for my health, and I am still in bad shape. I may go away again. I have been bombarded by cities on every side who raised a storm of denunciation and gossip, saying that I had left the borough at the mercy of a smallpox epidemic."

"Would it not be better to remain in this trying hour and stick out the fight?" interrupted Burgess George L. Walter.

"Don't think for a moment, gentlemen, that I am showing the white feather," said Dr. Kelly, springing to his feet. "I have the same interest in attending to my duties as ever before. I am no coward. But after the unjust criticism that has been heaped upon me, together with my weakened physical condition, I think it is my duty to resign."

"Do you hear from the critics while you were away?" a councilman asked.

"Yes, I did. Some of them sent telegrams 'collect' with 75-cent due."

"Yes, doctor, but the borough needs your services," persisted the burgess. "Cannot you remain at your post as long as your physical condition will allow you?"

Dr. Kelly then said that the critics were not all outside of the councilmanic body.

"There's nothing on the minutes to show that you were censured," declared the burgess. "and council does not recognize gossip."

Dr. Kelly then withdrew his proposed resignation. Mr. Shoop, in his resignation, stated that he only resigned on condition that D. M. Kirk would be appointed in his stead. Mr. Kirk is at Atlantic City. In a lengthy speech giving his reasons for quitting the board of health, Mr. Shoop said:

"I am still interested in the task that lies before the newly constituted board, and I shall give it all the assistance in my power. However, I want to see others to get to work. Those who have spent the summer out of the borough can now come home well and strong and take up the fatiguing work with which we have struggled and for which there was nothing but criticism from many quarters."

At this point the borough garbage contractor made a few remarks calling the attention of council to the condition of the dumps. He outlined a big program of reform and was referred to the board of health.

The matter of establishing a smallpox hospital was approved by several members of council provided the county authorities would take the initial steps. It was suggested that Sharpsburg and Etna and the adjoining townships could agree upon a suitable building, and, receiving support from the county, would be enabled to take care of smallpox patients at a great saving of cost. Council took no official action upon the matter.

The Canal street school will not be opened on Monday. There is a case of smallpox near the school building and the pupils will be granted a vacation until a more favorable time.

There are now over 30 cases of smallpox in Sharpsburg, five new patients being reported yesterday. The people complain that the police force of the board of health is inadequate, and that no officer is stationed to guard quarantined houses. Yesterday an Italian woman escaped from the house where a smallpox patient is confined and boarded a train for some point on the West Penn railroad. Shortly afterward another Italian came from the same house with a bundle of clothing which he wanted to send after the woman. The station agent refused to receive the baggage and sent the Italian home.

OFFICER'S KICK CAUSED A DEATH

Aged Grand Army Veteran Is Struck by a Train at Homewood Crossing.

FALLING PIPE KILLED A MAN

Telescope Fished Out of Monongahela River at Bessemer Contained Dead Body of Infant — Many Coroner's Cases.

Policeman George Carothers of Allegheny is locked up in the police station pending an inquest into the death of William McCleary, aged 81, who died at the Allegheny General hospital yesterday morning. Carothers gave himself up as soon as he learned of McCleary's death.

About 11 o'clock Sunday morning, August 16, Carothers and Policeman Andrew Beck went into a club known as the Allegheny Bowling club, in Link's hall, in Chestnut street, Allegheny. They say they did not go in to get a drink, but to warn the men there to be less noisy. Carothers says McCleary, who knew him, called him by a nickname and told him to go home, whereupon he kicked McCleary, quite gently. That evening McCleary went home and complained of pains in the groin. He was taken to the Allegheny General hospital, was operated on and died. The hospital authorities say the man's system was run down—in other words, he was sick when the policeman kicked him.

Assistant Superintendent John Glenn of Allegheny said yesterday that he believed the policeman's story to be substantially correct and he thought Carothers would be exonerated by the coroner's jury.

Likely Is David Hastings.

A man about 55 years old, supposed to be David Hastings of Wilkinsburg, a veteran of the Civil war, was struck by a train on the Pennsylvania railroad at the Homewood avenue crossing yesterday morning and died two hours later. The body was taken to the morgue, where no positive identification could be made, but a badge was found which bore the inscription "Sixth Corps, Rumgold Cavalry, 163."

Albert Rogers, aged 27 years, of Jackson street, Allegheny, an electrician employed by the Carter Electric Company, died at the Homeopathic hospital yesterday afternoon of injuries received while working on the new addition to the Joseph Horne building in Penn avenue, in the morning. His young wife is prostrated with grief.

Four witnesses were examined yesterday by Deputy Coroner E. C. Buchel, in connection with the finding of a two days' old babe in the Monongahela river near Homestead on Thursday last by two boys. Dr. E. E. Patton of Homestead testified to holding a postmortem examination on the remains, and it was his opinion that death had been his on the head with some blunt instrument and later thrown into the river. The two lads who discovered the body could throw no light on the affair, and the coroner's jury brought in a verdict of death at the hands of some party or parties unknown. The county detectives are working on the case.

Dead Baby Was in Telescope.

Two young men found a telescope floating in the Monongahela river near Bessemer, on Saturday last, and when discovered that inside was the body of a six-months'-old baby boy. The find was taken to Undertaker Flannery's establishment in Braddock and the coroner notified. From appearances the infant had been in the water about ten days.

Charles Lutz, aged 20 years, of No. 1141 Carnegie avenue, was drowned while bathing in the Allegheny river near Herrs Island dam at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. His body was recovered and taken to the morgue.

An Italian named O'Connor was struck by a gravel train on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad yesterday afternoon and died a few hours later.

The body of the unknown man found in the Allegheny river at Chevrolet on Sunday was yesterday identified at the morgue as that of Joseph Magyar, aged 22 years, of Sheops landing, Springdale borough. He had been in swimming.

Fred Brown, colored, 22 years old, of No. 1 Dunlap row, Allegheny, died last night at the Allegheny General hospital of injuries received by being run over by a traction car at Locock and Anderson streets earlier in the day.

John Powell, a well known character in Homestead, was found to be dead in a ditch by a train on Ammon street, Homestead. He was identified by a letter found on his person written to him by his sister, Mrs. Lewis, who is in Atlantic City. About a year ago Powell was tried and acquitted of the killing of his wife. The couple lived in a shanty-boat with their two children. He was known as "Jack the Ripper."

FROM PITTSBURGH TO CLEVELAND BY TROLLEY

Various Companies to Be Merged and Intervening Gaps to Be Built In.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, Aug. 24.—An electric railway between Cleveland and Pittsburgh will be an accomplished fact within a year or two. The new road will be capitalized at something like $10,000,000. Clevelanders, it is expected, will hold a considerable share of this stock, but the major portion will probably be controlled by eastern capitalists.

The distance between Cleveland and Pittsburgh by electric railway will be only 137 miles, when the new road is completed. This is shorter than that of the Erie, the shortest line between the two points. The equipment and service will be all that can be desired. A large portion of the road is already built, and the most of the work to be done in this enterprise will be the merging of the various companies.

The Eastern Ohio Traction Company has a line running from Cleveland to Garretville. From Garretville to Leavittsburg, 15 miles, there is no road, but one will be built within a short time by the Eastern Ohio Traction Company. The Pennsylvania & Mahoning Valley line runs from Leavittsburg to Youngstown, and the Youngstown and East Liverpool line operates between Youngstown and East Liverpool. The remaining distance, from East Liverpool to Pittsburgh, will be covered by another line, a company having been formed for the purpose of building it.

PENNSYLVANIA LINES TO BE INSPECTED TODAY

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 24.—(Special.)—An inspection of the Pennsylvania Company's lines east of Pittsburgh and Erie is to begin tomorrow. This will be one of the most important examinations made and the committee will be composed of practical railroad men, those who have such matters as improvements under their jurisdiction. The inspection will be under the management of the chief engineer of maintenance of way, Joseph T. Richards. In the evening the party will be in Pittsburgh, leaving that city Wednesday morning.

Postponed Carnival's Opening.

The heavy rain, together with the fact that the management of the Wright Carnival Company, was unable to get its attractions on the ground on account of a wreck near Youngstown, O., tended to mar the first night of the big show at Sylvavale. But tonight will take place the real opening of the first midsummer festival and a fair crowd is expected. Bands from Homestead and McKeesport will send large delegations.

DIED.

CAMP NAMED FOR CONNELLY

Governor Pennypacker Is Expected at the Range on Thursday or Friday—Will Witness Contest for Medal Offered by Himself—Revolver Match Today.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MOUNT GRETNA, Pa., Aug. 24.—The flag in front of headquarters of the state rifle camp on the state range was unfurled at 8 o'clock this morning while the headquarters' bugler sounded the call to colors and Lieut. Col. E. V. Selden, assistant executive officer, in a few words formally announced that the state guard officially named the camp in memory of Captain Thomas Connelly.

For many years Captain Connelly was one of the most enthusiastic and efficient officers of the state militia, and as inspector of rifle practice of the Sixteenth regiment did much to promote interest in rifle work. He died last spring.

Practice for the regimental match for the state trophy has been carried on during both morning and afternoon. It is expected that Governor Pennypacker will reach camp on Thursday, but it has not yet been definitely decided. He will surely be present on Friday when the contest for the championship medal which he has offered will take place. Thursday the Fourth regiment band will come from Lebanon to serenade the governor. Tomorrow morning the team of Foster artillery will accept a revolver match for a gold watch offered by Major General Miller.

The scores of the Western Pennsylvania teams today shooting five men per team, were as follows:

LIFE-SAVER WAS DROWNED.

Twelve-Year-Old Pittsburgher Sacrificed His Life For Another.

Jumping into the Cheat river at Point Marion, Pa., in a heroic effort to save his companion from drowning, Theodore Ketchum, aged 12, of Mt. Washington, forfeited his life Monday morning, as the treacherous waters claimed the bodies of the two. Hester Boyd, aged 20, of Hepple, of Woodville avenue, and young Ketchum of Omaha street were two of a party of campers on the Cheat river. Sunday morning several of the campers were bathing and Dietrich, who is subject to spasms, was attacked and cried for help.

Ketchum, fully clothed, jumped into the water and, reaching his companion, who had sank twice, made a brave effort to bring him to shore. The weight of Dietrich, who by this time had grown unconscious, and the swift current caused both to be engulfed. The bodies were recovered and were brought to their respective homes.

"I know of no arrangement or understanding for the return of Mr. Schwab to the presidency of the corporation. I think his general desire is to fully and permanently regain his health. It has been officially stated that his salary was $100,000 per annum, and that in addition he received something out of the bonus fund the same as other officials. These statements, like all other official statements, can be relied upon."

VARIETY COMEDIAN HURT.

John L. Howe Struck by Weight at Academy of Music.

John L. Howe, a comedian in the "Tiger Lilies" company, had a narrow escape from death on the stage of the Academy of Music, yesterday afternoon, and is confined at the Homeopathic hospital with a crushed foot and severe bruises upon his face and body. Howe was standing in the wings holding a chandelier which is used in his musical act with Frank W. Berry and Billy Walters, when the weight fell from the ceiling and struck Howe upon the right temple and fell upon his right foot.

No physician could be found and an ambulance was called. The wound bled profusely and it was feared that the injuries might prove serious. The audience remained in temporary of the accident and Berry and Walters went on with the act alone.

ROBBERS ENTER HOUSE OF BREEN

Owner Can Identify $10 Which Was Part of Their Plunder.

BURGLARS ARE VERY BUSY

During the Absence of Supt. McTighe the Crooked Element Was Particularly Active, but Obtained Little as a Reward for Their Crimes.

Another robbery in Oakland was reported yesterday. Judge Breen of the No. 86 Morrow avenue, a short distance from the home of Mrs. Robert Abel, where robbers attempted to force an entrance recently, discovered yesterday that his home had been entered and that $10 in money and a number of articles had been stolen. The thief or thieves was short, as he was evidently frightened away after rummaging through a grip and some boxes.

Mrs. Breen said last night that a $10 bill which was stolen was in a pocket book in the upper right hand corner in a compartment, and numbered in the same corner with brown ink. It, she said, is the newer pale green issue of bills, and in the bill was the subject of a conversation between a friend and himself only a short time ago.

John Miller, an agent, was arrested yesterday by Officer Frank Gumbl, Miller charged with the theft of a watch and $5 in cash from the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, 2008 Carson street, South Side, where he was employed. Miller was arraigned before Magistrate Succop and held in $500 bail for a hearing.

The thieves and burglars of Pittsburgh probably received a fat haul Sept. 2nd, by the raiding of the Pittsburgh police headquarters, and when the police returned to work Monday and no arrests were made they became quite active and several small robberies were perpetrated. Saturday afternoon some person or persons entered the home of Mrs. Mary Jane Lewis, No. 2720 Carson street, South Side, and escaped with $20 in cash. Detective Schmidt says he was robbed of $225 by a pickpocket on a Pleasant Valley car. Tighe says his men are never guilty of these robberies.

HOMING PIGEON RACES.

Carnegie Homing Club Has Already Had Three Interesting Ones and Planning More.

The Carnegie Homing club of Carnegie has held three pigeon races this year, and is now preparing for another. The first race was from Cincinnati, a distance of 175 miles. The birds left at 6 o'clock in the morning, and with a number of other clubs in the city was "The Fields" from the loft of Charles H. Fields. He was given honorable mention for the race and had a record of 1,200 yards per minute.

The second race was from Columbus, a distance of 185 miles. It was held on Labor Day's Bounty, at 6 hours and 45 minutes. Seventeen birds were liberated and the first bird to arrive was that of Charles H. Fields, which was also the first bird to arrive in the first race. Charles H. Fields' record was 1,442 yards per minute. Charles H. Fields' "Miss Pauline," "Miss Carnegie" and Harry Bounty" were also among the first to arrive, with a record of 1,200 yards per minute.

The second race from Columbus, a distance of 185 miles, it was held on August 30. Harry's Bounty, at 6 hours and 45 minutes, was awarded first prize. Charles H. Fields' "Miss Pauline" was second, with a record of 1,442 yards per minute. Charles H. Fields' "Miss Carnegie" was third, with a record of 1,200 yards per minute. Harry Bounty's record was also 1,200 yards per minute.

The third race was from Akron, a distance of 110 miles, and was held on Labor Day. Charles H. Fields' "Miss Pauline" was first to arrive, with a record of 1,442 yards per minute. Harry Bounty's record was 1,200 yards per minute. Charles H. Fields' "Miss Carnegie" was third, with a record of 1,200 yards per minute. Harry Bounty was fourth, with an average of 1,000 yards per minute.

The fourth race was from Akron, a distance of 110 miles. It is the intention of the club to have a race from Akron every month for August, September and October. The next race will be from Indianapolis, a distance of 360 miles. It is the intention of the club to have a $100-silver cup for the person to win the most races in the series.

Controller Larkin States That Amount Is Due from Those Holding Switch Privileges.

City Controller John R. Larkin is preparing a list of persons and corporations who have not paid into the city treasury the annual fees for switch and railroad franchises granted to them. The controller yesterday afternoon issued the following statement:

"The city ordinances passed June 30, 1902, it is made the duty of the city treasurer to impose a penalty of 25 per cent for delinquent payments, to be added to the amount of $75, and so on, $50-75.

"The ordinances was drawn and passed last year to settle disputed questions that were constantly arising in the city council about the payment of switch and railroad fees.

"All who are delinquent in the payment of their license fees have been notified through the department of public works and the controller's office that they must pay the amount to whom the ordinances will be enforced, and no requests to grant the city property will be granted by councils to those who do not pay their fees. Most of the delinquents are those who have failed to pay for several years.

SAYS HE HAS NOT FOUND HIS MAN

Thomas S. Bigelow Announces That So Far He Has Not Got a Shrievalty Nominee.

MAY NOT NOMINATE TODAY

James A. Clark Says the Fusion Conferees from the Country Districts Will Name the Candidate for Director of the Poor.

If the Lakewood cottage conference resulted in the slating of a fusion candidate for sheriff, the slate makers have decided not to make known the name of their man for the present. Thomas S. Bigelow and Mayor Hays returned to the city yesterday afternoon. They said that a shrievalty nominee had not been agreed upon. Murry A. Verner is to come home today.

The Bigelow fusion committee was to have met yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, to hear the report of the Lakewood slate makers. It was after that hour when Bigelow and Hays reached the city. The former telephoned the conferees, who were waiting for him at Citizens headquarters, that there would not be a meeting until Tuesday. To the newspaper men he said that he had not found a candidate.

Mayor Hays also gave out the information that there would be a joint fusion conference this afternoon, but that he did not expect that a nomination would be made. Bigelow was told that there was a report that he had selected Robert T. McElroy for sheriff. He replied: "That is a mistake."

Clark Is Generous.

County Commissioner James A. Clark, who has a sub-contract from Bigelow, allowing him to boss the Democrats, is home from Atlantic City. He says that he has no candidate for director of the poor, and makes the generous announcement that the slating of the man should be left to M. L. Thompson and Squire Conrad, the county fusion conferees on the part of the Democracy. Clark named his man Fleichner for prothonotary, and says that he is now willing to allow others to dictate the poor director nomination. W. J. Brennen is not expected home from Saratoga until this morning. Clark says that nothing will be done until he arrives.

Clark says that John Power of Ohio township and John Hammel of Carnegie have been mentioned for the poor director nomination, but that it is not settled that either of them will be named. There will be a meeting of the Democratic fusion conferees at 2 o'clock this afternoon, at which a candidate may be slated. Clark also has cheering information for the leaders of his party. He says that the Democracy will have a campaign fund of $40,000.

Holding a War Council.

Mayor James G. Wyman of Allegheny has summoned his political cabinet. He wants to take stock of the assets of the Citizens party on the North side and determine what can be done toward mending badly damaged fences. City Solicitor S. G. Porter has been ordered home from his vacation and is due today. There is some reason for believing that Porter will not be overjoyed with the prospect of hustling for votes for Goehring. He would have liked to have had the nomination for district attorney himself, but Bigelow would not agree to him. Then Wyman put forth Meredith Marshall, but did not meet with the approval of the boss. One of the Ultimus leaders said that Marshall would not be named if he was the only man available.

The Wyman crowd will at least demand some salve for its wounded feelings. It is understood that Bigelow will be asked to pledge at least two of the assistant district attorneyships to the Wymanites in the event of Goehring's election. As Bigelow has little hope of success in the country districts this fall he is exceedingly anxious about Allegheny and will accede to almost anything the Wymanites demand.

Stevenson Is Home.

Councilman W. H. Stevenson of the Fourteenth ward is home from the Thousand Isles, where he has been for several weeks. He has not worried about politics during his absence, but did not lose much time getting into the harness yesterday. During the afternoon he had a long conference with that other "political orphan," Controller John B. Larkin.

The Independent Democrats and Citizens who are disgusted with the condition in their parties, look to Mr. Stevenson to lead a new reform movement this fall. For a couple of months there has been some quiet work done on the formation of the party. When W. J. Brennen surrendered to Bigelow, Stevenson was out of town and his colleagues in the reform movement said that nothing would be done until he returned. After his talk with Larkin, Stevenson said that he was not ready to discuss the political situation, but wanted more time to acquaint himself with what had heppened in his absence.

"I stand pow where I have always stood," said he. "The pledges made to the people must be kept. Aside from this I am not prepared to say what I will do until I have become conversant with the situation."

SAY SHE TAUGHT GIRL THE USE OF COCAINE

Bertha Hood, colored, of Duquesne, was committed to jail yesterday by Justice of the Peace J. P. Kilgallon on a charge of harboring Pearl Preble, a 14-year-old colored girl, and teaching her the use of cocaine. Agent H. S. Shaw of the Humane society is the prosecutor.

KNOWLES AGAIN ON CITY PAYROLL

Bigelow Reappointed Him Without Consulting Councils, Who Ordered His Discharge.

HIS SALARY IS $4,000 A YEAR

Controller Claims Councils Failed to Repeal Ordinance Under Which Filtration Engineer Was First Appointed. Hazen's Case Is Different.

Director E. M. Bigelow has placed Morris Knowles back on the city payroll without asking the permission of the reformers in councils who were responsible for the discharge of both Knowles and Allan Hazen, nearly a year ago. Knowles was employed as resident filtration engineer and Hazen as consulting filtration engineer. Both men are regarded as experts on filtration, and they were employed to prepare the plans for the city's filtration plant.

Knowles was brought to Pittsburgh by Director Bigelow, prior to the administration of Director J. Guy McCandless, and Director McCandless continued both Hazen and Knowles in their positions at $4,000 a year each, when he succeeded Director Bigelow. When Director McCandless went into office the Citizens party reformers in councils started a crusade against the two filtration engineers, securing the passage of a resolution instructing the director of public works to discharge them. This Director McCandless was compelled to do and until a week ago, neither were in the city's pay.

A week ago, when Director Bigelow once more turned his attention to filtration matters and actively renewed the work of preparing plans, he re-employed Engineer Knowles and so notified the controller's office. Assistant Controller E. S. Morrow made an investigation and reported to his chief that Knowles could be put back on the payroll without any legislation by councils. Mr. Morrow defined the situation as follows:

Ordinance Was Not Repealed.

"Knowles was originally appointed under authority granted by an ordinance. The resolution which dismissed him did not repeal this ordinance. The case of Hazen is different. He was appointed under a resolution and the resolution dismissing him repealed the former resolution. Mr. Knowles is now on the payroll drawing a salary at the rate of $4,000 a year, or $333.33 a month."

Assistant Controller Morrow defended the action of Director Bigelow in reappointing Engineer Knowles. He said:

"As Director Bigelow is taking up the subject of filtration again, he will require expert assistance in preparing estimates and Mr. Knowles can not be expected to do his work for nothing."

Mr. Knowles went to Washington, D. C., with Director Bigelow. Director Bigelow, Engineer Knowles and Superintendent A. B. Shepherd are expected to return to the city today and a meeting of the special filtration committee will probably be called for some day next week, when Director Bigelow has notified the committee that he has the estimates ready.

Alum Water Scheme Dead.

It is the general opinion that mechanical filtration has been abandoned by its promoters, at least for the present, and that it will not be revived unless the filtration project can be delayed past the next elections.

"I think the alum water scheme is dead," said Select Councilman W. E. Sankey, a member of the special filtration committee, yesterday. "The committee will not consider anything but sand filtration, and I do not think the advocates of mechanical filtration will have the courage to attempt to put their scheme through councils in the present temper of the people."

DREAMER IS GIVEN 30 DAYS TO WAKE UP

That dreams do not always "come true" is a conviction that Henry Stull of No. 600 Thirty-third will become fully aware of while he serves the 30 days in jail that were allotted to him in No. 3 police station yesterday morning. Stull, who had been keeping house in the absence of his wife, dreamt early yesterday morning that the house was on fire. Jumping up he threw the bedclothing into the street and turned on all the water in the house and, crying fire, attracted the attention of the police. Officer Clarence White broke in he door, but found no fire. Stull touched the officer when he appeared, but got the Corbett end of it and was landed in the police station. He was sent to jail for 30 days in default of a fine of $25.

Association Changed Its Name.

"The Duquesne Mutual Casualty and Indemnity Company" is the new name taken by the Duquesne Protective and Detective association under a change of charter which was approved at a meeting of stockholders yesterday in the new offices of the company at No. 336 Fourth avenue. The plan of payment is altered from the assessment basis to fixed annual premium, and a guarantee fund of $25,000 will be created to remove the liability for assessments. Its scope will be widened in several respects.

Charged With Violating Blue Laws.

Victor J. Caroll of No. 810 Webster avenue and Banca Frank Bonavoglia of No. 806 Webster avenue, were arrested yesterday on information of Caroll Gigliotti of No. 32 Chatham street, made before Alderman Charles F. Anderson. All are Italians and are dealers in steamship tickets to Italy. It is alleged by the plaintiffs that the defendants sell tickets on Sunday, which is in violation of the laws of 1794.

MAIN PORT IS TO BE AT LORAIN

B. & O. Railroad Will Spend Over $1,000,000 at the Lake Town.

IMPROVEMENT OF THE DOCKS

Large Increase in the Coal Tonnage of the Terminal—A Big Undertaking Is Planned by Company—Harbor Is to Be Dredged.

Lorain, O., is to be the largest ore and coal port of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad on Lake Erie. Over $1,000,000 will be spent in enlarging the dock facilities and making the most complete individual lake terminal between Buffalo and Chicago. It will be the main coal shipping point of the entire Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern systems. For the present only the coal docks will be enlarged.

Contracts were awarded yesterday by Chief Engineer Graham to the Standard Contracting Company of Cleveland for 700 feet of dock work at $50,000. The Baltimore & Ohio owns a frontage of two miles on Grand river, and almost all of this will be utilized in building the most modern docks in the world. Along the 700 feet to be built up by the Cleveland firm a $100,000 dock will be built at once for the handling of coal. Contracts for this, including the machinery, which will increase the expenditure by $50,000, will be awarded shortly.

After a More Direct Route.

Since acquiring the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling, the lake terminal of which is at Lorain, the Baltimore & Ohio has been aiming to get a more direct route from the West Virginia and Southern Ohio coal fields to the northwest via Lake Erie. To carry out the idea the Cleveland Lorain & Wheeling is being double-tracked and grades and curves are being eliminated or reduced. This work will be completed within a short time, and with a new line from Allegheny to Akron much of the coal tonnage of the Pittsburgh district will be taken to Lorain.

The Baltimore & Ohio practically has a monopoly of the wharf rights in that city, and the opportunities for increasing its facilities are unlimited. A large tract of marsh land was purchased last week at a cost of about $12,000 by the Baltimore & Ohio, which makes that system, with its connections independent as far as Lorain is concerned. The immense marsh will be built up within the coming year, and by the time the 1904 coal season opens the road will be able to handle at least 50 per cent more business.

Sandusky Is Main Lake Port.

Its main lake port at present is Sandusky, although Fairport is the largest ore dock owned by the system. The line reaching Fairport, however, is not in the best of shape. At Lorain there is now an ore dock with a storage capacity of 1,000,000 tons and fairly large coal docks. The new coal docks will have a capacity of both 10,000 tons a day.

Several hundred thousands dollars will also be expended by the Baltimore & Ohio in dredging the Grand river so that the harbor will be deep enough to admit the largest lake steamers. Contracts for this work have not been let yet.

During last year the coal tonnage of Lorain increased almost 50 per cent owing to better facilities on the Cleveland Lorain & Wheeling. When this road is double-tracked its entire distance it is believed that over one-half of the coal and ore tonnage of the Baltimore & Ohio will be handled at Lorain. The undertaking is one of the largest on the 1904 program of the Baltimore & Ohio.

The development of Lorain is said to have been suggested by W. H. Woodford before he left the Baltimore & Ohio as general superintendent. President Loree took readily to the idea although nothing could be done at the time owing to the urgent necessity of spending money at other places. The present work will be done under the personal supervision of General Superintendent W. C. Loree and General Manager C. S. Sims.

HIGHLY RELIGIOUS, BUT TRIED TO ROB A WOMAN

Police Trying to Discover If Harry McCarroll Is Insane or Was Driven by Want to Act as a Highwayman.

Has Harry McCarroll been enacting the role of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, or did temporary insanity, caused by want, drive him to the deed for which he was committed to jail yesterday morning? These questions the police are trying to answer.

McCarroll was arrested in Oakland Saturday on a charge of trying to snatch a chatelaine bag from Miss Helen McCarthy in Bayard street. Shortly after his arrest, the Rev. A. H. Clarke of the Gospel Mission church, Penn avenue and Chartiers street, Allegheny, appeared in his behalf stating that the must be some mistake, as the prisoner was an ardent worker in his church. The hearing was postponed until yesterday morning, when Miss McCarthy and a friend who was with her at the time of the attempted robbery positively identified the man.

The prisoner at once opened up a religious discussion with Magistrate Negley and quoted scripture incessantly until ordered by the court to restrict himself to his plea. "Well," said McCarroll, "if what these ladies say, is true, the devil must have had hold of me." He was committed to jail in default of $500 bail.

Mrs. McCarroll was seen at her home, 1113 Manhattan street, yesterday afternoon, and was heartbroken over the affair.

"Harry was such a good husband. I can't understand how he came to do it. We were married in the mission nine months ago, but I knew him for two years. He was active in church work and nearly every night he led street meetings on the prominent corners of Allegheny. He never smoked or drank and was always telling us to work for the Lord. He would not dare to eat without saying grace and never left the house at night without taking his Bible and hymn books with him."

When asked if she thought necessity prompted the deed, Mrs. McCarroll replied, "Yes, that is what I think drove him to it. He has not been getting much work at his trade of structural iron worker and as I am about to become a mother and we have had little money for weeks, I think he may have become desperate."

The McCarroll home is profusely hung with religious mottoes and scriptural quotations. Pictures of biblical characters are given places on the walls, tables and mantels.

The Advance Showing of Long Coat Walking Suits.

Also new ideas in Autumn Walking Skirts. Both held quite a reception yesterday, notwithstanding the sultry weather, calculated to put one out of the notion of buying suits for cool weather.

Plenty of women who like to buy far ahead of the season and to be fairly ready for it when it arrives. The new Suits and new Skirts appeal strongly to that foresighted contingent yesterday and will again today.

New Walking Suits of gray mixed Suiting for $15. A popular price. Three-quarter length coat, blouse front, patent leather belt, full sleeve, turn-back cuff, finished with stitched bands of silk; 7-gore skirt, wide flare, stitched bands of material.

Then there are many other different prices for the long coat Walking Suit, and many different materials—all the prices, however, are in the popular range, $18, $20, $25 and $30.

The new Walking Skirts are also popularly priced. It is really wonderful what a smart new skirt can be bought for a little sum.

At $5 each—Walking Skirts of gray mixed homespun, 7-gore full flare, lap seams with stitched bands of material at each gore, trimmed with buttons, finished at bottom with 4 rows of stitching.

At $7.50—Walking Skirts of brown mixtures and men's cloth, 7-gore flare, lap seams, strap yoke, with extended strap down front, finished with 4 rows of stitching.

Buy Hammocks Now.

As has been often said, the best time to buy anything is at the end of a season. While you still have the use of whatever you buy in the remainder of season present, you also have it ready for the same season of the next year. Buy hammocks now. September is a fairly good hammock month.

Canvas Weave Hammocks—have valance, spreader—neat color combinations at 75c each instead of $1, at $1.15 instead of $2.

Controller John B. Larkin has issued final notices in the matter of the switch licenses. Unless paid promptly a penalty will attach. That is as it should be, for the city needs the $60,000 revenue due from that source and ought to have it. The controller is entirely within the legitimate sphere of his duties in calling attention to the matter and in passing the claim along for collection if not promptly paid. Unlike the Highland reservoir contract, this matter belongs to the accounting department.

In the matter of the order to have specifications made for needed park improvements, it is better late than never. The park season for this year is drawing toward its close and the improvements cannot be made to be enjoyed this summer. If begun now, however, they should be complete for next season. There are many improvements needed in the parks to make them all they should be for the enjoyment of the thousands who cannot afford to go to seashore and mountain. Discomfort results from the absence of suitable shelters and refreshment booths. The parks are all right in themselves, possessing the fundamental characteristics of ideal playgrounds, but they are sadly lacking in creature comforts of the ideal places of popular recreation.

Gradually our idols are broken. Here is Dr. Bainbridge, an eminent medical authority, declaring to a Chautauqua audience that an onion poultice is no better than poison. Tradition, running to the time when memory does not extend, has esteemed the onion poultice as a thing of virtue, second only to the little bag of sulphur and assafoetida. Science rises and at one blow strikes down the idol. It has no virtue, says the doctor. Worse, it is harmful. It is no better than poison and it has a disagreeable odor. Well, never mind. It is not the first curative agent to be discredited and it will not be the last. Medical science raises a new fetish every year, worships at the shrine and then casts away the idol. The onion poultice was overdue for destruction. It has lived longer than many other poisons, with higher authorities to recommend them.

A company has been incorporated in Oklahoma to construct a railroad from Hudson bay to Valparaiso. An ambitious scheme, truly, and without the prospect of profitable traffic as far as we can see. As a matter of convenience it would be on a par with the proposed tunnel under Bering straits, and it might carry as much through business. Of course, the line is to pass through Oklahoma as a central point, and to the Oklahoma boomers that is the hub of the universe. The project resembles that other famous railroad system which started at Reno as a center and was designed to reach the principal cities of the outside world. Reno is located between Oil City and Franklin. It is still there. The railroad has passed, and while Reno has some connection with the outside world it has never developed a traffic sufficient to support a great railroad system.

Even as the delegates are drifting into Columbus for Wednesday's Democratic convention, no one is able to tell to a certainty whether Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland or John L. Zimmerman of Springfield will be nominated for governor. This fact is chiefly valuable in showing that Johnson has not been able to keep the Ohio Democracy as completely within his grasp as he had it last year. The nomination will have to be decided by the pulling of wires and the swinging of bung starters today. Johnson has an advantage in control of the machinery left over from last year, but the barrels make the contest pretty even on other scores. It will be an exciting day, but to what purpose? In the end the convention will name a man on Wednesday to be defeated. Col. Myron T. Herrick will be the next governor of Ohio, no matter who is nominated by the Democratic convention tomorrow.

Councilman Schleich does not propose to rest tamely under the trick that was played upon him in connection with the ordinance proposing to abolish the office of collector of delinquent taxes in Allegheny. He was about the only Citizens party member of common council who desired to redeem the party pledge to abolish that office, and he was misled into staying away from the meeting by a telegram to which the signature had been forged. He has offered a reward for the arrest and conviction of the forger. Even if this inducement fails to disclose the identity of the culprit, it will assist in clearing away suspicion that Mr. Schleich absented himself wilfully from the council meeting. That will be something gained. But while the search is on for the forger we advise Mr. Schleich to confine it to the party by which he was elected, for no one else had pecuniary interest in committing such a crime.

With the annual gathering of the public school teachers, in attendance at the county institute, there is opportunity to give a thought to the vast educational system maintained by the people for the instruction of the American youth. In the Sunday Gazette a page was given to the new school houses that are being constructed. It was an imposing array of pictures of splendid buildings. In ancient Greece and Rome the most striking feature was the temples erected for the worship of their heathen gods. Here the god of education claims most attention. In the cities there are fine temples of brick and stone; in the crossroads towns there are the little red frame structures, all for one purpose, to fit boys and girls to become good citizens and useful members of society. The teachers in session at Carnegie hall are the presiding geniuses of these temples of learning, and their annual assembly in institute enables the public to judge how alert they are in getting new ideas and the best means of imparting instruction to the young people.

Smashing The Record.

While Sir Thomas Lipton is not the least likely to get the America's cup, he need not be cast down. He is bucking against a big country that has fast boats and fast horses, the fastest in the world. There is Lou Dillon and there is Dan Patch. Lou Dillon performed a feat yesterday never equalled in the world—she trotted a mile in two minutes, flat. It is only within a decade or so that horsemen dared dream of the two-minute trotting horse. Two-forty was a fast gait when Sir Thomas was a boy, or even when he was a young man. Dexter and Goldsmith Maid put the forty expression on the shelf, but two minutes trotting was not seriously talked about until Nancy Hanks made herself famous in 1892.

The pacers were first to get the time down to two minutes and then they lowered the record by a fraction. Dan Patch has gone repeatedly between 1:59¼ and 2, and his driver believes he can clip off another second this season. And now Lou Dillon has shown that the trotters are not going to stay far behind. Two minutes yesterday. It may be half a second less before the last Bob White has fled from this latitude to become a fat reed bird in South Carolina. Outside this country there is hardly a thought of such speed in a gaited horse—they resort to running for speed.

So if Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger fares no better today than it did last Saturday he may console himself with the thought that he has been a good second in a race with the representative yacht of a wonderful country. Reliance is likely to make a new record in the yacht world. Shamrock III. is a good boat and Sir Thomas is a better sportsman. We know of no better anywhere except here in America where speed is a charasteric of nearly everything from racing yachts to industrial processes.

Not Even a Bluff.

Open confessions seem to be the order among the Democrats. It is not so very long since former Governor Pattison waved aside a presidential nomination proffered him by an amiable reporter, remarking in explanation of his declination of the compliment that he comes from the wrong state to be considered eligible for the prize. Strictly in line with this is the action of the Democratic state chairman of Pennsylvania in refusing to pay the price asked for the use of the Harrisburg opera house by the Democratic state convention when other quarters could be secured for half the money, even if not half so good. Any old place at the smallest possible cost is good enough in which to nominate a ticket that is only put up for the purpose of being knocked down, is the flavor of this, and it is a fitting sequel to Mr. Pattison's declaration. Now comes the Post with additional testimony which will make people wonder why the Pennsylvania Democracy preserves an organization. Pattison gave up the presidency with a smile, Hall abandons the yet unnamed state ticket to its fate and the Post completes the bouquet with the legislature and the United States senatorship. Little, therefore, is left to Democracy, except what it has gained through fusion in Allegheny county, and this little will not be for long.

The Post yesterday contained an article concerning the United States senatorship, the greater part of which was apparently intended only to fill space and to lead up to this not altogether unimportant declaration.

We believe the senatorial succession will be a very simple matter. Unless there is a Martinique explosion it will be Senator M. S. Quay himself.

The difference of opinion between the Post and Senator Quay on this point we leave to them. The important point for the reading public at this moment is less the point of difference than the Democratic assertion that the successor to Col. Quay will be a Republican. From the standpoint of the Post it isn't worth while to mention a Democrat in connection with the United States senatorship. It sees in the situation only Quay and other Republicans and it picks a Republican as a sure winner. The Republicanism of Pennsylvania is thus fully conceded both for this year and next by the highest Democratic authorities. Chairman Hall gives up the state ticket of 1903, the Post on giving up the United States senatorship without a struggle gives up with it the legislature and Mr. Pattison long ago conceded the electoral vote. Of course Republicans have known that they would win all along the line, both this year and next, but it is a real surprise to find that the Democratic prophets refuse to even bluff on anything.

The True Solution.

In the current issue of Leslie's Weekly Justice Brewer of the supreme court of the United States discusses the prevalence of lynching and goes to the root of the matter by pointing out how it is encouraged by want of confidence in the regular administration of justice. He says:

Men are afraid of the law's delays and the uncertainty of its results. Not that they doubt the integrity of the judges, but they know that the law abounds with technical rules, and that appellate courts will often reverse a judgment of conviction for a disregard of such rules, notwithstanding a full belief in the guilt of the accused. If all were certain that the guilty ones would be promptly tried and punished, the inducement to lynch would be largely taken away.

Justice Brewer therefore recommends that appeals in criminal cases be abolished, thus returning to the old practice which made the verdict of the jury conclusive, both as regards the law and the facts. This is still the rule in the courts of England and no one questions that justice is fully administered and personal rights scrupulously respected. In practice, a doubtful question may be reserved by the presiding judge for the consideration of the full bench, but this rarely occurs, yet errors of justice, by which the innocent suffer, are probably fewer in England than in this country. Judge Brewer also calls attention to the fact that "for nearly 100 years there was no appeal from the judgment of conviction of criminal cases in our federal courts and no review except in a few cases in which two judges sitting, a difference of opinion on a question of law was certified to the supreme court."

Justice Brewer also considers the necessity of speedy justice in the case of atrocious crimes. He asks "why may not direction be given to the presiding judge of the proper court to immediately convoke that court and put the accused at once on trial? If this were done and no appeal allowed, would not the community be more confident that full justice would be promptly meted out?" These changes would be no novelties in the administration of justice, but would be rather the discarding of novelties which have been adopted in this country and are having baneful consequences. And if we set about retracing the steps by which we have strayed from sound jurisprudence, it may be found that similar mistakes have been made in other directions. The considerations which actuated constitutional conventions in providing for the filling of such offices as sheriff and state's attorney by local election instead of appointment have not held good in practice. The system has substituted irresponsible appointment for responsible appointment. Under the form of popular election such offices are filled by the appointment of some local boss, himself subject to no official responsibility whatever. The national government has adhered to the old system and it will hardly be questioned that national administration of justice commands greater respect and confidence.

Justice Brewer's comments, which are particularly weighty and significant, coming from one who occupies such an exalted judicial position, sustain The Gazette's contention that the real problem is not one of ethics but of organization. Lynch law will not be put down by preaching, but by reforming the administration of justice.

A Plain Case.

There is a promise of better things in Allegheny. The plea that there is no money in the treasury for the use of the bureau of health has been sensibly dropped and the mayor and the superintendent of the bureau declare they will go ahead, meet the conditions and trust to councils to provide for the payment of the bills. In an emergency of the sort that exists on the North Side it would be a sad state of affairs indeed if the councils could not be trusted to provide for necessary expenditures. If organized government is unable to meet such conditions then it is of small value to the community, for it is quite as important to guard the public health as to guard the public against physical assault.

The course to pursue is plain. That is to establish and maintain an effective quarantine in the affected district. If there is any doubt about the power to compel any one to submit to vaccination it should not operate as an excuse to delay the quarantine. There is no absolute certainty that an unvaccinated person exposed to contagion will acquire the disease, as there is no absolute certainty that the contagion will not communicate itself to a vaccinated person. But there is an absolute certainty that no person will get smallpox who is not exposed to it. Effective quarantine will prevent spread of the contagion and it is the duty of Allegheny to establish that quarantine at once.

Dr. Batt has said that if Allegheny does not quarantine its own cases it will become necessary for other communities to establish quarantine against that city. That is a drastic measure, justifiable by extreme necessity only. It would be disastrous to Allegheny, but if the officials and the people of Allegheny do not do their duty in protecting themselves and their neighbors they will be obliged to suffer for their folly. The disease is in one locality. If properly handled it will not spread. There is no general menace while it is confined to that locality and no cause for panic, but precaution to keep it there must not be neglected.

Does the report that M. Loubet, president of the French republic, has determined "never again to stand for office" illumine the different political methods of France and the United States? In this country the man who would stand for office wouldn't have a ghost of a show. The American candidate must run and run hard.

The nip and tuck fight he is having with Zimmerman ought to open Mr. Johnson's eyes to the fact that he isn't the whole circus even among the Ohio Democracy.

Mayor Tom L. Johnson is so busy with hostile Democrats that the automobile chase after Mark Hanna's scalp is postponed for the present.

What Colombia wants to know now is whether this canal treaty matter can't be compromised in some way so that she can get the money.

It is understood to have been a somewhat out-of-date fleet that Russia sent to Turkey, but it accomplished up-to-date results.

The latest returns indicate that Mayor Low has a clinch on two votes for re-election. Senator Platt has just declared for him.

How would it do for the Citizens leaders to experiment with bipartisan in their effort to get some one to run for sheriff?

Prepare for a warm time in St. Louis on August 29, 1904. It will be Pennsylvania day at the exposition.

The Russian fleet made itself very popular with the sultan by departing from Turkish waters.

The baronet is too much of a gentleman to try to help the Shamrock to victory by mere blowing.

Corbett is referred to by an esteemed contemporary as a "striking figure." Say struck boy.

John W. Bookwalter showed a level head in retiring from the Ohio senatorial contest.

Once more Shamrock III. has had her measure taken, but not for the America's cup.

It is admitted that in bad financial weather rubber currency would be a good thing.

Now the navy is about to try to take New England away from the army.

The only ring the people have time for at the moment is the circus ring.

At any rate, Shamrock III. will win second place.

The America's cup is the cup we cheer.

IN THE EYE OF FAME.

M. Loubet, president of the French republic, is reported to have determined never again to stand for office.

Florence Mary Fitch of Stratford, Conn., has received a doctor's degree from the Berlin university with honors. Only nine women have taken this degree, three being Americans.

William Durant of Boston who recently celebrated his 87th birthday anniversary, will in February next complete 70 years of active service in the office of the Boston Transcript. He is now the treasurer of that publication.

Manchester has celebrated the centenary of John Dalton's atomic theory. His table of ultimate atoms, with the atom of hydrogen as its unit, was formulated in September, 1803, and while his atomic combining weights remain, the "ultimate atom" has been exploded.

Capt. C. W. McRae, who succeeds Rear Admiral G. W. Melville, as chief of the bureau of steam engineering, is the first naval academy graduate to fill the place. He was formerly at the head of the steam engineering department, and he was a member of the first class of engineers to be graduated from Annapolis. During the Spanish war he was chief engineer of the battleship Iowa.

Our Navy on View.

The splendid naval pageant off Oyster Bay, when the president reviewed four battleships, six cruisers and gunboats and 10 torpedoboat destroyers in perfect weather and in the presence of thousands of spectators, is only the latest of many spectacular appearances of American ships, says the New York World. Within a few weeks selected ships of our line have appeared at Kiel, at Portsmouth and at Lisbon, and our officers were warmly greeted by three kings and numberless smaller dignitaries.

The record run of the Kearsarge across the Atlantic and the "war game" off Bar Harbor, gladly interrupted by the puncturing of the Massachusetts upon a spur of Maine coast granite, brought the scene to our own coast with ships and men in the best of condition for parade or powder-burning more serious if need should arise. It is a magnificent navy that flies the American flag and the nation is proud of it—particularly proud that its power for a century and more was never used as a means of aggression or of conquest, and that it led in the peaceful work of scientific exploration of putting down piracy and suppressing the slave trade. May it be long before it must engage again in work less humane and pacific.

Value of Hobbies.

When man realizes the supremacy of the inner sight he will be able to enjoy life's sunny side in larger degree, for he will then see things as they really exist. We are proud to magnify everything in these days of struggle and competition, hence whatever we enjoy or suffer is exaggerated and of short duration. We are too impulsive and too unstable to appreciate the sweets and comforts of life. It behooves us, then, to study concentration, and this can be accomplished in no more practicable manner than adopting a hobby of some kind. Yes, a hobby is the thing. It is one of the secrets of real happiness. Did you ever notice that he who harbors a pet hobby or study is less selfish and more communicative than others? This getting away from self is equivalent to rising above the clouds and seeing the sun in all its glory. Of course, the better the hobby the higher will be the aspiration for still finer things.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Poetry and Harvests.

We've been reading Will Chamberlain's poetic prose on the delights of the harvest season with particular emphasis on the shocking of the grain. Now, we've followed the binder—and kept up with it, too—a good many days in Iowa harvest when the thermometer had climbed above 90 and even after four years in a clover patch like an editor's life we can't make any poetry out of the remembrance of harvests on the farm. If a man can show us beauty or joy or poetry or anything esthetic in shocking barley with a torrid sun pouring down through a 90-degree atmosphere he may surround a pail of Tom Wilson's best cream at the expense of the printing office. This farming under the canopy of a newspaper office is a mighty sight more gentle and comfortable than out under an arched sky of the usual August torridity.—Canova (S. D.) Herald.

A Slap at Masculinity.

Supposin' some of these newspaper fellers that know so much about women's hair bows and peek-a-boo waists—which isn't so—let up on women's riggings awhile and tell us why a man wears a belt and suspenders at the same time to keep his breeches on.—Kimball (S. D.) Graphic.

A Judge of News.

After all, that editor of a daily in an Indiana city who gave six lines to the news of the election of Pope Pius X. and 102 lines to the achievements of a local baseball pitcher, is probably the best judge of what news is where he lives.—Boston Globe.

NOTHING TO SUGGEST.

My Uncle Hi's mind has an equable poise
Through seasons of drought and of raining;
"In worry," he says, "we lose sight of our joys,
And we spend too much time in complaining.
If the Lord, in His wisdom, sends blessing or blight,
I'll take what He sees fit to proffer.
For I'm firm in the faith that He's running things right,
An' I have no suggestions to offer.

"To the Lord, when in trivail, no dolorous plea
I make, for my creed's not so narrow
As to think for a moment He'll lose sight of me
When He notes e'en the fall of the sparrow.
He is there on His throne, an' so just is His rule,
Alike to the saint and the scoffer,
I sit here at home jes' a-rockin' things cool—
An' I have no suggestions to offer.

"It's a might good world that we live in today,
For the good's all the time growin' better,
An'," my Uncle Hi adds in his comical way,
"It satisfies me to the letter.
So I jes' keep t' work in the shadow an' shine,
Bit by bit addin' gold to my coffer.
For the world's Pilot steered by a Hand that's divine—
An' I have no suggestions to offer."
—Roy Farrell Greene, in Success.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Against stupidity the very gods
Themselves contend in vain.
—Schiller.

Were Schiller living now, and in Carnegie hall today, he would take a more hopeful view of the situation. With such a valiant army to back them up in their fight against stupidity the very gods could hardly dream of failure, much less fear it.

But then Schiller is dead, and has been for a long time—how long

And who was Schiller, anyway?

No doubt most of the readers know and can tell, if they will.

Of course you understand that the mere asking of a question doesn't necessarily contract the asker of liability to answer. This lets a lot of us out.

But there are those who ask hard questions just to get a chance to answer them, knowing that the average individual will be unable to do so, and that will cause their smartness to stand out and shine like glass diamond extra studs.

These, however, get the shine taken out of them suddenly sometimes, and usually by some little fellow who asks a simple question, and for information only, and not to exhibit his stock of knowledge.

* * * * *

None presume to say, much less to believe, that our teachers know it all, nor do the teachers themselves put up any such claims. And yet you only find some in the bunch who will impress you with the idea that they think they do. But these do not really think so, as you will discover after getting better acquainted with them. They are merely proud of themselves because they know as much as they do. They are conscious of their knowledge.

By the way, do you know what you know, or how much?

Some there are who, if they know, would not be heavily burdened. And, it is these, probably, who are most conscious of their knowledge—that is, know what and how much they know.

Knowledge, as such, is more or less of a burden, but when converted into wisdom it no longer has either dimensions or weight. But as knowledge is simply acquired pigeon holes in the mind, and has to be referred to as the keeper of an information bureau refers to his memorandum as occasion may demand.

Knowledge surely is a burden to the mind and a source of weariness to the memory in particular. Too may know some persons who are forever quoting authors verbatim, giving day and date, and citing precedents and incidents with the precision of an encyclopedia. And yet when you tackle them on some topic that is easily within the range of common sense they prove to be as ignorant as the commonest of men.

But what has this to do with a teacher's institute, and it the biggest and the best, and with more cleverness and sweetness to the square foot than any other in the state? At least that is Supt. Hamilton's claim, and he has Dr. Township here to prove it, than whom there are none who have attended more institutes, or have better eyes for loveliness or taste for sweetness.

Therefore, it is useless to deny Hamilton's claim. If you dare to do so you will quickly find yourself in a scrap so hot and fast that you will be lucky to get out alive.

So, you may as well vote with the majority, thereby saving a lot of trouble, and at the same time making yourself solid with the chosen—chosen from among the people for their various talents, virtues and accomplishments. Loveliness and sweetness go with the lumber—go with it because they can't help it, for they belong there naturally.

You may not be able at a glance to distinguish between the talent coming to Hamilton's show, and that coming to the circus, but that doesn't matter. Indeed the two may, and no doubt will, mingle more or less intimately. And why not make one railroad fare serve for both? Or who would blame the teaching talent if it should take advantage of cut rates that may be offered on account of the circus? That would indicate a business streak along with those of loveliness and sweetness. A good combination, don't you think?

* * * * *

By the way, wouldn't it be a splendid idea to take advantage of the presence of the circus and menagerie to give the teachers a course of practical instruction in natural history, zoology, comparative anatomy and physiology, child study and human nature generally? No doubt the instructors could be induced to instruct under canvas, and as for getting the bunch there to be instructed—well, you needn't worry about that.

However, this is but a passing observation, and may not be in order, nor even worth the paper it is printed on, but having been made it may stay, with the understanding that The Gazette will not be responsible for any truckiness in attendance or playing hookey, or for mental destraction in any form whatever, due to the circus.

If any of you should steal away, or get lost, and in following the crowd to get to the center of attraction, and pourquoi at the circus, ask for Dean, present your card, and he will see to it that the candy butchers don't pass you by coldly and indifferently.

Dean is a college graduate—Yale, probably—and a good one. He says he has not found a college education to be any hindrance to success in the show business. He is with the literary branch, and it is a good one, too. You may not think it, but the success of a great circus depends quite largely on the quality of the literary talent employed.

Ask Dean and he will tell you all. If he isn't there ask Bowles.

* * * * *

Getting back to the institute again. What did you come for, or why did you come?

Just because you were sent for?

Did you really and truly want to come so badly that you would have cried if you were not had you been unavoidably detained at home?

Now that you are here what are you going to do about it? Listen to the lectures and get busy? Learn how to teach school to up-to-date style, and then go home and teach as you always did, or as best you can? Or, go to the circus?

The lectures will be great and worth a deal more than the price of admission, but that left all. The acquaintances you make, the pleasant associations, and the new experiences are worth still more. It is said that more than one bright teacher has met her fate while attending institute.

Are you bright?

If so look out for your fate.

They say there are not as many teachers as there used to be. Maybe the demand is greater. Anyway there is a dearth of first-class teachers.

A first-class, bright teacher has many, if not all the elements of a first-class "piano-tuner," which commands more pay. This may, in a measure, account for the shortage. Because first-class talent generally looks out for itself.

And then, a first-class, bright teacher makes a good wife. There may be exceptions to this rule. But, as you know, it is a good rule to which there are few.

* * * * *

A whole lot of good and useful knowledge may be scooped in here, if you have the scoop. Whaling, Black, et al. have it in stock and will dispense it with free hands. Nor is it robbery to take it from them, nor is it plagiarism to use it as your own.

Emerson said that whatsoever we read or learn, and digest and assimilate, becomes our very own, the same as the steak and potatoes you eat become yourself.

You may have discussed that vexed question: "When does the written check cease to be John Smith become John Smith in fact?"

You might vary that a little and make it read: "When does the meat in one of Whaling's lectures become you, yourself?"

It isn't what you remember of a lecture that does you most good, but that which sticks to you, or is absorbed and unconsciously becomes your own, a part of yourself.

Good teachers, like poets, are said to be born, not made. And the old preach adds that like the early good they die young.

"That's mean. Don't you think?

Nor is it true, at all. Just look at the swarms of good teachers, many of whom are old enough to vote. And look at the legions of good fellows who are still alive and looking well enough to live a long, long time.

No, indeed! The good don't die young—not all of them. Not by a whole lot.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

(By Private Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—If I would rather teach than be president," chortled Booker Tarver today as he came ashore from the White Star dock, Chelsea. There was nothing affected in the breadth of our Chesterguy's accent when he said that he would rather teach than preside in the senate; and the rest of it is that he can make other people laugh. I do not think it is the gratified expression that Chauncey Depew is a great wit. Some of the fakes that he offers are chestnuts and others are awfully dull. But, as he delivers them, everyone is obliged to laugh if only in sympathy with the enjoyment of them that radiates in the speaker's jolly red face. That he is the personification of good humor—and ghost nature, which is not always the same thing—everyone who knows the senator will say. He can afford to get off more jokes than an ordinary man, and he has the privilege. For instance, he wound up a pleasant interview with New York newspaper men at the pier this morning by asking them a story. The point of it was that a young man who had been seasick all the way across the Atlantic insisted that it was not the motion of the vessel, but some food he had eaten before sailing, which was responsible for his confusion. Chauncey Depew laughed when he told it, and all the listeners followed suit from habit. Yet there were not a few of them who had not heard the same yarn a dozen times with variations of the particular dish which had caused the trouble—ranging from broiled lobster to Welsh rarebit.

Business and Pleasure in Gotham.

Fair-weather are coming to New York in greater numbers just now than has been recorded in the history of New York hotel management. The Cleveland's daily list last week showed that more than 200 Pittsburghers registered at the principal hotels each day. Besides these there are scores who come to visit friends and relatives and do not register at hotels at all. The metropolis is so interwined with the business and pleasure of Pennsylvania in these times that many people may be said to divide their time between the two cities.

Park's Sentence Delayed.

Sam Parks has two more counts before being sentenced for his crime of extortion. It cannot be said that he looked pleased when he heard the decision of Recorder Goff today. Parks's mouth all the forenoon has gone out of Sam's countenance and remained.

Always Risky to Argue.

It is always a risky thing to argue with a stranger or a beliefist, subject in a public place. A traveler for a clothing house discovered that fact in a Broadway hotel lobby this afternoon. He happened to meet a clothes-looking young man in a casual way and the conversation drifted to the merciless subject of rubber corsets. The drummer opined that they were absolutely perfect in their particular way. The young stranger offered a few objections to rubber sponges, remarking that they had this, that and the other defect, which were hard to overcome. The drummer combated this impugnity, and soon the argument was exceedingly heated, the quiet stranger maintaining his opinion, but listening respectfully to what the other had to say, nevertheless. At last, the quiet stranger said he had an engagement and pantomed out, leaving the drummer uncertain as to which had got the better of the controversy. "Who is that?" asked the drummer of the hotel clerk. "He does not know much about rubber sponges." "No?" said the clerk. "Well, he ought to. He is the man who manufactures them. His name is Pinnell. He is at the head of the Harry Pinnell Chemical Rubber Manufacturing Company."

Latest Clever Japanese Toy.

A new Japanese toy which shows the characteristic ingenuity of that nation, has just made its appearance in New York. It is a small bird cut out of heavy paper and brightly colored. Place the bird on the extreme tip of a finger or the edge of paper and the bird will hang there without any other support, with wings extended. It looks like magic, but it is only a clever application of centrifugal principle, the center of gravity being placed at the tip of its beak by a system of weights.

Bargains Are Plenty Just Now.

Bargain days are here. This is always the time of year when bargains are supposed to be offered in summer attire, but there are more of them this year than usual. The cool summer has left heavy stocks of woollen goods and straw hats on hand and the result is that department stores are crowded with as many men as women. As a rule, the fair sex has the bargain counters almost to itself. But this week she has a dispute for space in front of the steam counters with men, who, however, generally get the worst of the battle.

A Sensible Warning.

Now there is another peril for the unfortunate passenger by ferry boat on the East river. Workmen on the new Williamsburg bridge have a painful habit of dropping bolts, nuts, bits of wood, scraps of steel and even an occasional tarpaulin. If any of these missiles happen to drop upon the head of a person on the deck of a ferryboat, it means a painful, if not dangerous injury. No passengers are warned to keep in the cabins when crossing the river under the new bridge and a sensible warning it is.

Five to One on Reliance.

Betting is at just as long odds on the Reliance as upon any of the features of the athletic carnival today that Shamrock III. is entitled to keep her original time allowance. This is one to offered on Wallaroo, with no takers. If the weather proves favorable tomorrow, it is anticipated that there will be an enormous crowd to witness the second race of the series for that premier cup.

Political Drift.

Discussing the probable retirement of Senator Matthew S. Quay, the Washington Star (Ind. Rep.) says: "Suppose the Republicans of Pennsylvania insist on further service from Mr. Quay. He is only 70 years old—the senior by only two years of the gentleman who has just undertaken the administration of a church of world-wide connections. A new venture of the sacred is approaching, and who knows Pennsylvania's interests in the world, or could serve them so well in the senate of her present senior member of that body? Mr. Quay out of it? That depends."

"The Panama route is the one we want," says the Syracuse Post-Standard (Rep.). "In the opinion of the best experts it has numerous advantages over the Nicaragua route. The abolition of it is made partly out of spite against the British Isle Central American postal policy, which would be the opposite of wisdom."

"Senator Aldrich confirms the announcement published in our Washington dispatches that the sub-committee of the senate finance committee has abandoned all thought of a national currency measure, such as the Reed bank note bill urged last year by Mr. Fowler," says the New York Commercial Advertiser (Rep.). "The committee is unanimously in favor of the simple plan of permitting deposit of national securities in the banks and removal of the restrictions upon retirement of bank note circulation. That it will urge all the extra session of congress in the belief that the country is fully warranted, that the country at large approves of such legislation."

"Of course, the stake point in New York city for a mere fifth, but as things develop it will probably add fuel to the general knowledge of party strength whether the city goes fusion or Democratic," says the Washington Post (Ind. Dem.). "Opinions on the political horizon are these and prospects of future changes that will be significant."

Norman E. Mack is at it again. He has to be on active end to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat (Rep.) says he is not signed. It says: "Colonel E. Mack says Gen. Miles would be the best man whom the Democrats could nominate for president in 1904. Mack is New York's member of the Democratic national committee. Aside from this circumstance, Mack is of no consequence, but he is a pretty active person in the politics of his state, and if he thinks as Miles would the opposition meets the general may put a vote or two in that body. There is nothing beyond about Mack. Six months ago he was shouting for Bryan, whom he supported in 1896 and 1900. Three months ago he was selling the Democrats that Cleveland was the man for them to put up. For the next one or three days he has been a Miles man."

"Whatever will finally come out of the conference which the Republican members of the finance committee of the senate have been holding at Senator Aldrich's residence and at Oyster Bay. It is already clear from various reports that all concerned, qualified and competent, are wise enough to see that no bill can be passed over Roosevelt's veto," says the Philadelphia Press (Rep.). "Some improvement should be made in the currency. But it is better on all accounts to secure a substantial advance by a moderate bill than to fail of any progress by a bill which attempts too much."

"The personality of Mr. Roosevelt may yet be lined up Mr. Hill, but, as a rule having rare exceptions, Mr. Roosevelt's characteristics are much to the taste of the American people," says the Philadelphia Ledger (Ind.). "That cannot be truly said of the characteristics of Mr. Hill. The people like the president's frank, open, hearty, impulsive ways; they believe in large humanity and broad sympathies. What he does and what he thinks, Mr. Roosevelt does and thinks aboveboard, so that his countrymen know him as an open book. He does not seek by the politician's trick of expedient and reserve to blind them to his faults, nor does he try to hide his virtues from them. It is this interest with Mr. Hill about whom his countrymen know only that he is a self-proclaimed Democrat and a chronic candidate, under the lure, for the presidency."

"With 40 delegates in the next national convention the Pennsylvania Democracy could make itself a positive force in the party councils if it had courage and conviction," says the Philadelphia Press (Rep.). "It could take its place as a leader. The voters so say along, in manner now far behind, so that it can't embody them. It is not strange that it has lost the confidence of the people to the last degree. A party with no policy, whose organization is a large number of the enemies of the state is unequipped safely for barter and profit, could expect nothing else."

"The scathing arraign of statesmen count for but little against the material interests of a people," concludes the Philadelphia Evening Telegraph (Rep.). "In spite of unfriendly tariff laws, we continue to buy of Canada what we need that she can furnish and Canada buys of us what its people want, and we can furnish cheaper and better than anybody else. The simple secret about the matter is that the people do the trading, and the Canadian statesmen are powerless to hinder it. The commercial needs of the two countries transcend, and will continue to transcend all tariff laws."

Bulgaria's Note to the Powers.

Now investigate the parts this fertile to bring about the reforms promised to the powers by those in the insurrection by which the Bulgarian government closes itself of responsibility in the present uprising, says the New York Evening Post. It is no vague charge of atrocities that now lies before the powers of Europe. Indeed, we have the circumstantial record of villages ransacked and burned, of men shot and women worse than shot by the gendarmes in the employment of the public Christians of the Ottoman empire. Many of these outrages cannot be explained in any way as merely overt acts of reprisals or as reprisals for greater bloody deeds of the revolutionary bands. That would not account for

OSBALDESTEN AND LUGAS MADE PEACE

Pittsburgher in Guise of Reporter Interviewed the Professor.

THEN REVEALED HIS IDENTITY

After Interchange of Friendly Confidences They Had a Drink and Parted Amicably — Osbaldesten Surprised at Prospect of Second Visit from Lugas.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Aug. 24.

"Frank Lugas was in New York last Wednesday and spent four hours with father," said the son of Prof. Edwin T. Osbaldesten this evening. Later the professor admitted this statement to be a fact. "Edwin should not have told you," said the professor, "as I promised Lugas to say nothing about it."

"A dispatch from Pittsburgh says he left there last night for New York. Do you know anything about that?" I asked.

"I see no reason for his coming since our interview of last Wednesday evening," replied the professor. "I have heard nothing from either Lugas or Louise so I can know nothing about their plans."

Prof. Osbaldesten was very much disinclined to tell what occurred at his meeting with Lugas, owing to his promise of silence, he said, but was finally convinced that as his son had told that the interview occurred, the details could do no more harm.

"I was at dinner on Wednesday evening," said the professor, "and the family was telling me of the visit in the afternoon of a man who said he was correspondent of a Pittsburgh paper, when the doorbell rang and this alleged correspondent was ushered in. He told me he came from Pittsburgh to interview me and I told him the full history of the case.

The Professor Dumbfounded.

"'What would you do if Lugas were to call on you?' my caller asked, after I had told the whole story bare to him. 'I should treat him as a gentleman if he came peaceably to me; but if he came as Herr Wild and his men came, he would meet a similar reception.'

"'Well, I am Franz Lugas,' he said.

"I was dumbfounded and I told him I had probably talked more plainly to him than I would had I known who he was.

"'What Lugas came here for,' continued Prof. Osbaldesten, 'was to get me to sign a paper agreeing to have nothing more to say upon the subject of Louise. He said he would send the woman and the child to the country to quiet the matter down.

"He said he had been caused great expense by the case; that he had employed detectives to watch this house for a week and that it had cost him $500. He wanted to be relieved of the expense and the worry, he said, and that was the reason he came to see me.

"Lugas told me he was a member of a wealthy firm of manufacturing chemists in Germany, and was coming to this country to establish a branch when he met Louise on shipboard. He says she told him part of her past life, but that did not prevent his marrying her.

Had a Drink Together.

"After we discussed the whole case in all its details, Lugas invited me out to have a glass of wine. I went out with him, we had a drink and a smoke together, and he left me."

Prof. Osbaldesten had his luggage packed as though for a journey, and said he was going to the country to see some patients. How long he would be gone he could not say, but not for several weeks. He strenuously denied that the route was westward or that he had Pittsburgh in mind as the chief point on his route.

Lugas is very probably in New York, stopping at a downtown hotel under an assumed name, but he had retired when I called and declined to be interviewed.

WORK OF COMMISSION MAY COME TO NAUGHT

Miners' Officials Will Reject Umpire's Decision If It Grants Operators' Demands.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WILKESBARRE, PA., Aug. 24.—District Presidents T. D. Nicholls, William Dettrey and John Fahey left for New York today, where they will attend the sessions of the conciliation board, which meets in that city tomorrow and, which promises to be the most important meeting yet held by this board.

Umpire Carroll Dwight is expected to meet with the members and decide vital questions upon which the board is now deadlocked. It is said that the operators will ask the miners' representatives that both again bind themselves to abide by the decision of the umpire.

This session will have added interest owing to the alleged statement of Mr. Dettrey, that he would be in favor of resigning if one of the conditions of the operators, touching the right to discharge workmen for any cause except membership in the miners' union, be sustained by the umpire. Should the board go to pieces over this question, the work of the Pennsylvania anthracite commission will go for naught, and unrest, petty strikes and confusion follow.

POSITIONS IN PHILIPPINES.

Examinations in Various Lines Will Take Place Shortly in This City.

The United States civil service commission announces some interesting examinations for the Philippine service. The examinations will take place October 21, and will be thorough, requiring considerable experience in each of the subjects. The positions to be filled and the salaries are: Estimate clerk and computer, jacket writer, proofreader and reviser, electrotyper, $1,800 a year; compositor, compositor (linotype operator), bookbinder, pressman, photo-engraver, $1,400 a year; and electrician-machinist-engineer, $1,600 to $1,800 a year.

Two years' service, at least, are required from each appointee and at the expiration of that time his traveling expenses to Manila will be refunded. The government is looking for good men and promises promotion on merit from the lowest to the highest positions.

Further information will be furnished on application to the commissioner at Washington or to John E. Cowan, secretary of the local board of examiners.

Examinations for the position of veterinarian in the Philippine service will take place September 16. The salary is $1,800 a year. On September 29-30 an examination will be given to fill the position of draughtsman, qualified as typewriter, at the United States Military academy at West Point, at a salary of $1,000 a year.

Price Should Have Read $25.

Through a typographical error in the advertisement of J. G. Bennett & Co., the Wood street ladies' and gentlemen's furnishers, in this Monday issue of The Pittsburgh Gazette, an item relating to the sale of women's suits quoted the price as 25c each, whereas the garments should be sold for $25, the reduction having been made from $50 and $60. The patrons of the above firm readily realized that a mistake had been made, and it is certain that a large sale of the suits will result at the low intended price of $25.

ROAD TO CROSS TWO CONTINENTS

Railway Projected from Hudson Bay to South Pacific Ocean.

Would Extend Through Canada, United States, Mexico and Central and South America—Estimated Cost Is $250,000,000—Company Incorporated.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

GUTHRIE, OKLA., Aug. 24.—Plans for a gigantic railroad were discovered today, when articles of incorporation of the Pan-American Hartford Company, with a capital placed at $250,0000,000, were filed here with the secretary of the Territory.

The purpose of the corporation, it is said, is to build a line extending from Fort Nelson, Hudson Bay, in a southerly direction, crossing the line of the Canadian Pacific near Winnipeg, Manitoba, through North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Indian Territory to Galveston, Tex.; from Galveston through the tropic of Mexico to the boundry line of Central America, through the isthmus of Panama; thence through the United States of Colombia to Ecuador, and finally through the republic of Peru to Buenos Ayres on the Atlantic ocean. Also a branch line beginning in the republic of Peru and extending in a southeasterly direction through Brazil to Rio de Janeiro; also a branch line beginning in the republic of Peru and extending to a southerly direction through Chili, to Valparaiso, on the south Pacific ocean.

The estimated cost of the Pan-American railway is $250,000,000, and the estimated length 10,000 miles. The incorporators are W. R. Page, Stephen A. Sheldon, W. J. Pendleton, Eldredge G. Eldredge of Shawnee, Okla., and C. E. Wells of Lincoln, Neb. It is not known what outside interests, if any, these men represent. The principal offices of the company are stated to be at Guthrie and Shawnee, Okla.

Within the corporation of the Pan-American Railway Company will, it is said, be several construction companies. The largest of these will be the Canadian-American Construction Company, among whose directors are said to be Charles F. Beach, jr., London, Eng.; M. L. Muhlemann, New York; Charles M. Rawlins, New York, and Charles B. Williams, City of Mexico. These directors will, it is stated, hold in a general way for the other companies.

A charter was also issued to the American Townsite Company, an adjunct of the railway corporation, with a capital stock fixed at $10,000,000, with business offices at Shawnee and Guthrie, Okla.; New York city; Superior, Neb.; Hutchison, Kan.; Dallas and Galveston, Tex.; Winnipeg, Can., and the City of Mexico.

THE DEATH ROLL

Funeral of John O'Reilly.

Requiem high mass will be offered over the remains of John O'Reilly, the well-known undertaker and liveryman of Mt. Washington, at St. Mary's of the Mount Roman Catholic church tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock by the pastor, the Rev. J. W. O'Connell. Interment will take place later at St. Mary's Catholic cemetery in Lawrenceville. Mr. O'Reilly, who was one of the oldest residents of the South Side, having lived in that district for the last 50 years, was for years prominent in Democratic politics both in the city and county. After coming to Pittsburgh from his birthplace, County Caven, Ireland, in 1847, he became an iron worker, being employed at Soho until he entered the undertaking and livery business in Fulton street, forming the firm of John O'Reilly & Son. The firm later moved to Mt. Washington. Mr. O'Reilly was an ardent temperance worker and during his life did much for the cause. In 1877 he was nominated by the Democratic party for county commissioner, but failed of election. He also was a candidate at one time against the late John Paul for member of select council from the Thirty-second ward.

Mrs. Mary Irwin Shanks.

Mrs. Mary Irwin Shanks, 79 years old, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Louisa Hanson, in Canonsburg, last Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Shanks was born in County Tyrone, Ireland, and came to this country when quite young. She lived in Pittsburgh about 10 years, having only recently removed to Canonsburg. She was the widow of William Shanks, who died about 12 years ago. Five children survive—Edwin Shanks of No. 510 Lowell street, East End; George Shanks, Edwin Shanks and Mrs. Louisa Hanson of Canonsburg, and Charles Shanks of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Shanks was a member of the Lincoln Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. The body will arrive this afternoon at the East Liberty station for burial here.

James Quirk.

James Quirk, aged 81 years, died at the residence of his niece, Mrs. Elizabeth Bailey, No. 917 Heth street, Lawrenceville, yesterday morning of the infirmities of old age. He was born in Ireland and came to this country when a youth. He worked at the United States arsenal in Lawrenceville up until the time of the big explosion there. He had a narrow escape in the disaster, but escaped unharmed. The deceased man leaves no children and his wife has been dead many years. The interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Alexander L. Holliday.

Alexander Lowry Holliday, the oldest native of Hollidaysburg, Pa., and a member of a pioneer family of the Juniata valley, after which Hollidaysburg is named, died yesterday, aged 90 years. Mr. Holliday was a former burgess and held many offices. He was the original Republican of Central Pennsylvania and presided at the first convention of the party held in Hollidaysburg in 1858.

Mrs. Mary Henderson.

Mrs. Mary Henderson, aged 81 years, died at Franklin, Pa., yesterday. She was thrice married and was the mother of 10 children, grandmother of 49 and great-grandmother of 31. Mrs. Henderson had been a smoker since childhood. She outlived the other nine members of her family, none of whom smoked.

A. S. Mermod.

A. S. Mermod, senior member of a jewelry firm of St. Louis, Mo., arrived in Paris, France, Saturday and died there yesterday suddenly of heart disease. Mr. Mermod was 78 years of age and was born in St. Croix, Switzerland. He came to St. Louis in 1854. Mrs. Mermod, who is now in Monrose, Pa., and four children survive him.

Obituary Notes.

SHAMROCK THIRD MEASURED AGAIN

1100 Pounds of Ballast Thrown Out to Make Way for Anchor.

TIME ALLOWANCE UNCHANGED

Sir Thomas Also Orders the Bending on of a New Mainsail—Says He Still Thinks He Will Lift the Cup and Is Not a Bit Despondent.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—After having removed 1,100 pounds of ballast and taken on board a cable and anchor weighing that much, the Shamrock III. was remeasured in a dry dock in Erie basin today. The net result was that there was no change in the time allowance of 1 minute, 57 seconds, which the Reliance is compelled to give. The challenger was just three one-hundredths of a foot shorter than before the change and that difference was not sufficient to make a second's increase in her time allowance. Her loadwater line length is now 88.78 feet and her racing length 104.375.

A new main boom measured today was no longer than the old one. The new sail is a Ratsey and Sir Thomas Lipton and Capt. Wringe assert the change is made, not because the other mainsail was considered inadequate, but that the new sail, which has been tried before and found a good one, may be better in the style of racing to be followed tomorrow. The new mainsail, when fully stretched, was a much better fit than the old one. Sir Thomas Lipton was a close watcher of the casings of sails, but as it took some time, returned to his cabin on the Erin. He said:

"The remeasurement was simply a matter of form, so that every portion of the conditions under which the race is made would be complied with. It was the simplest thing in the world to add the anchor and chain and take out the same amount of our lead ballast, or to leave on the lead and remove the anchor and chain. Tell me what difference it is, will you? Mind you, I'm not finding any fault but simply making a query as to what was gained by the remeasurement."

Then, with a smile and pointing to a bunch of telegrams on the table, he said: "I see I am congratulated with the despondent and unhappy over Saturday's result. Well, I'm neither. I wish we might have won, it is true, but I am not at all willing to concede that the Reliance is a winner. My boat will make a good showing race. I also want it understood that I have not criticised Capt. Wringe's sailing of the Shamrock III. on Saturday."

Shamrock III. did not go out after returning from New York. The Reliance's crew watched with interest the Shamrock's crew at work on their new sail. Reliance will go out tomorrow with a new jib but otherwise in the same trim as the first day. Mr. Iselin and Capt. Barr declined to talk of Reliance's ability in a triangular race, or why they had changed their jib.

PERSONALS

Charles and Francis Riess of Hanover and Vienna, respectively, officials of the Associated Rolling Mills of Vienna, are in Pittsburgh to inspect steel plants and are staying at the Lincoln hotel. They are paying much attention to American rolling mill machinery, with a view of placing several important contracts. "I will not say that the American plants make better steel and material than the German plants," said Charles Riess last night, "but they have a wrinkle or two in advance of our country in having better and perhaps more modern machinery. It takes more men to operate our machines. The two brothers have been in the United States for about five weeks, during which time they have visited Buffalo and South Chicago. Today and tomorrow they will visit the Carnegie Steel Company's plants and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company plant at Wilmerding. The Associated Rolling Mills are located at Hanover, with the main office at Vienna. There are six plants and blast furnaces, all of which occupy 800 acres. The ore is brought from Westphalia.

"The fruit crop of West Virginia," said W. P. Duskin of Bellaire, last night at the Seventh Avenue, "is really distressing this season. There is to be a meeting of the West Virginia Horticultural society the early part of September in Buckhannon, although I am afraid the attendance will be small on account of the failure of the crops. The state is still holding its own as a fruit section, notwithstanding the ill luck of this summer."

William V. Sheriff, general secretary of the East Liberty Young Men's Christian association, returned yesterday from a four months' trip through Europe. The trip was largely accompanied by his sister. Most of their time was spent at Wildungen, Germany, and Lake Luzerne, Switzerland. The trip was made for the benefit of Mr. Sheriff's health, and he returns much improved.

Dr. E. C. Wilbur, editor of the Sunday school literature of the Methodist Protestant Sunday schools, will leave this week Saturday for a two weeks' trip through the west. He will attend the church conferences in Illinois, Missouri and Kansas.

GLASS MEN ARE IN BAD STRAITS

Meeting of Manufacturers to Be Held Here Today to Discuss Starting This Fire.

MAY BE NO FACTORIES OPEN

Independent Company Will Ask Workers to Hold Up Wage Scale as Suggested by Simon Burns—Plants Now Running Are Hurting Trade.

So demoralized has the window glass trade become on account of low prices and high wages that a hasty meeting has been called for today at the Henry hotel between the officials of the three combinations and the presidents of the two labor organizations, which control the blowers, with a view of holding up the wage scales and prolonging the present idleness for an indefinite period. Few of the factories will run this fire and the meeting today will deal with a question of vast importance to the glass workers. C. P. Cole, president of the Independent Glass Company, and Leopold Mamboury of the Federation Glass Company, arrived in the city last night. During the evening they were closeted with W. L. Monro, secretary of the Federation Company, an official of the American Glass Company and President Phillips of the American Window Glass Workers' association.

The proposition made a week ago by Simon Burns, president of the other organization of window glass workers, that the scale of the Denny association be held up for the present, will be seriously considered. President Cole, it is understood, will ask the Denny workers to hold off the scale. This scale calls for 5.2 and 15 per cent for single, or practically the Burns scale of last year, although it is not to become operative until the Independent Company has 150 pots at work.

One of the glass manufacturers said last night that the starting of a number of independent factories has made matters worse and as long as this free-lance business in the trade is kept up the combination is sure to suffer. The trade, as a rule, is not buying from the stocks, as long as independent factories make new glass and the combinations are fighting to get rid of their stocks, keep up prices and put some of their factories in operation. It was rumored last night that President Gray of the Window Glass Jobbers' association would meet the manufacturers today, but if he does it is predicted that no business of an essential nature will be transacted. The manufacturers are selling direct to the jobbers, thus ignoring the association.

A CLEAR, SMOOTH COMPLEXION

Peruna Cleanses the System—The Glow of Health Takes the Place of Pimples and Blotches.

Miss L. F. Acker, 303 Second Avenue, Detroit, Mich., writes:

"Peruna is a decided beautifier, better than any paint or powder, for it gives you that clear, smooth complexion and the glow of health, which no cosmetic can ever imitate. I was troubled for several years with humor of the blood which inflamed the skin and at times covered my face with pimples and blotches. I had pains in my head, back and limbs, and was constipated. I took Peruna and in a short time all was changed. All the impurities of the blood were cleansed, the pains relieved, and I was restored to perfect health. My complexion is fine and clear, and I do not need any powder to cover up the imperfections."—Miss L. F. Acker.

A Washington Physician.

Dr. Robert Douglas, Homeopathic specialist, corner Sixth and F streets, N. W., Washington, D. C., in a recent letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., of Columbus, Ohio, has the following to say concerning their noted catarrh remedy, Peruna:

"I have been a practicing physician for some years, during which time I have administered Peruna to a number of my patients for catarrh and general debility with great benefit to them. I have paid particular attention to its effects, and I have absolute confidence in its curative qualities, and have no hesitation in giving it a most emphatic endorsement."—Dr. Robert Douglas.

Peruna vs. Cosmetics.

To purify a stream one must purify the source of the stream. Cosmetics will not clear a complexion, depending upon catarrh of the digestive organs. Nothing but a course of Peruna will cure these cases.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

B. & B.

Went through the Silk stock yesterday.
Sorted out a lot to be sold.
Prices when seen that will do it.
Read this and come.
If you're not prompt buyers then you don't want silks.

150 feet Center Tables—all full of the kinds sorted out.

Note some lots indicating the kind of prices that are to move what we put out.

75c to $1.25 Fouland Silks, 50c.
Another table, not so large, 50 to 65c Fouland Silks, 35c.
Lot plain colored all pure silk Taffetas, 25c
—Petticoats or linings—this is a chance quite unusual.
Colored Striped Taffeta Silks, 45c.
Table after table of fancy silks at 50, 55 and 75c that would take too much space to tell of—and space costs money—and these silks at the price will sell without large advertisements.

closing summer waists

at throw away low prices—all highest grade makes, including "Fish, Clark and Flagg" and "King"—very choicest all white linen neatly embroidered and elaborately lace inserted.

Over a dozen styles that were 5, 7½, 8½ and 9½ dollars, at one low price to clear out the whole lot, $3.50—they're mussed a little, but washing will fix that.

This item will arouse every woman's interest—such fine waists are not often sold so cheap.

Lot fine embroidery trimmed Lawn Waists, in good condition, $1.50 for 3 and 3½ dollar waists.

Showing of Fall styles from 1 to 7½ Dollars overshadowed any we've ever offered so early in the season.

One new Dollar waist just received yesterday morning is exceptionally meritorious for such money—it's a black and white fancy novelty woven Vesting—all newest and best ideas of style in it.

Large assortment of fine, choice shirtwaists at lowest consistent prices impels those who see to take advantage.

twenty dollar suits of such superior merit and excellence as to attract especial attention of every woman who sees them.

Two numbers just received from a fashionable maker of high grade clothing—small profit priced and put out yesterday.

One is a quiet tone Scotch mixture Walking Suit in the long coat style—9 gore skirt, open knee plaits—fly front and in entirely new sleeve.

The other is a fine grade Cheviot—black or blue—9 gore flare skirt—coat buttons through.

You're cordially invited to come and see these—they're worth immediate attention from women who want a moderate price suit.

We never in our thirty-four years of active merchandising have anticipated, so early in the season, the "to prevail" styles in women's ready-to-wear clothing—profusion of variety and merit thereof taken as a criterion.

At and between 15 and 75 dollars our showing is incomparable—come and see if it isn't.

white goods

12,000 yards 31 to 36 inches wide—white corded Madras—soft finished, 10c, or 12 yards for $1.00.

12,000 yards is the exact quantity we bought—and we want one thousand different families to each get 12 yards, and that will exactly sell out the lot.

They will get them at just forty per cent less than regular value.

White goods of this kind are always useful and wanted the year 'round.

If a chance to buy as good a lot came any month in the year we would be buyers.

PLUCKY WIFE RAN TO HUSBAND'S AID

When Port Vue Strikers Assaulted Benjamin Hodgson His Wife Took a Hand.

FLOORED A MAN WITH BRICK

Strikers Turned on Mrs. Hodgson and She Might Have Fared Worse Had Not Large Force of Police Responded to Riot Call.

Another riotous demonstration in connection with the Port Vue tin mill strike occurred at 6:30 o'clock last night. It was the most disorderly episode that has yet taken place, and that more serious results did not follow was due alone to the prompt and vigorous interference of the McKeesport police.

Benjamin Hodgson was returning from work in the mill and at the doorstep of his home, No. 613 Market street, was set upon by four strikers, Louis Graham, Harry Boland, John Grundy and William Desmek. They knocked him down and kicked him. Mrs. Hodgson was sitting at a window, watching her husband's picture, and she was a witness of the brutal assault. She positively identified the four men at police headquarters later.

When Mrs. Hodgson saw her husband kicked into the street she ran to his aid and seizing a brick from the pavement threw it at Grundy. Her aim was true. Grundy was hit between the eyes and went down like a drunken man. Mrs. Hodgson alleges that just after she hurled the brick several of the men turned their attention to her. Six more strikers had now come up—Michael Finn, William Fletcher, Daniel Reese, Thomas Farley, Charles Grogan and Harry Carson.

Mrs. Hodgson says Fletcher caught her by the shoulder and kicked her in the stomach. She was surrounded by the other men, but just how offensive they treated her could not be seen because of the crowd. But she had been forced to the curb, when Officer John Prosser ran up with revolver drawn, and ordered the crowd to fall back. The 10 strikers started to run, but Prosser brought them to a standstill by a threat to shoot the first one who did not stop.

While he kept them covered with his weapon several citizens sent in a riot call to central police station and 12 more officers responded.

The 10 strikers were arrested. Graham, Boland, Grundy and Desmek were released on $100 security each, for a hearing next Wednesday morning before Mayor Falkenstein, who will have returned from Atlantic City by that time. The other six were released on $10 security each, for a hearing at the same time. The bail was furnished by William Gibson, vice president of the Amalgamated association. After identifying the men Mrs. Hodgson returned home to attend to her own injuries and assist her husband in dressing his.

PRESIDENT ACCEPTS INVITATION TO SPEAK

Unveiling of Monument on Antietam Battlefield Will Be the Occasion.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Gov. Murphy of New Jersey and Senators Kean and Dryden of the same state, visited President Roosevelt. Gov. Murphy and the senators invited the president to attend the ceremonies incident to the unveiling of the monument erected on the battlefield of Antietam in memory of the New Jersey soldiers who fell in that engagement. The ceremonies are to take place on the 17th of September, the 40th anniversary of the battle. After some consideration the president accepted the invitation and agreed to make an address.

H. H. Kohlsaat of Chicago was a guest of the president and Mrs. Roosevelt today at luncheon. As the visit was Mr. Kohlsaat's third to Sagamore Hill in two months Mr. Kohlsaat said his call had nothing to do with any contemplated change in the cabinet.

"It has been rumored," said Mr. Kohlsaat, "that I might be appointed postmaster general, but there is absolutely nothing in that story."

Mr. Kohlsaat did discuss with the president the subject of financial legislation. For several weeks he has been gathering information for the president bearing on the subject. His researches have been in both the east and in the west, and the net results he has laid before the president.

THE OAKLAND CARNIVAL.

It Opens Tonight and Many Interesting Features Will Be Found Attached Thereto.

The out-of-doors carnival and automobile show for which the members of the Oakland board of trade have been planning for many weeks will open at 8 o'clock this evening. The indications are that when the gates of the five acre plot to Fifth avenue, opposite the Hotel Schenley, are thrown open, a big crowd will be in attendance. A number of people became "mixed in their dates" and went to the grounds last night.

There will be many special features. Mayor Hays, who is an honorary member of the Oakland board of trade, has signified his willingness to accept the invitation tendered him and may be on hand to help raise the curtain. Out of respect to him, the music end of the program will contain several airs which have been regarded as his honor's especial favorites.

The list of shows, which has already been published in these columns, was greatly augmented yesterday by the accession of a loop-the-looper who comes highly recommended. Igor, his daring, seemingly not satisfied with looping-the loop on a bicycle, he winds up his wonderful performance with a dive into a tank of water, from a dizzy height. The members and committees of the board of trade want it distinctly understood that there will nothing in the carnival which can be construed as objectionable.

Great interest has already been shown in the automobile end of the carnival and those who are well acquainted with what is to be shown, say that the exhibition will be second only to the national affair which is given in Madison Square garden each fall.

REWARD OFFERED TO CATCH FORGER

Councilman Simon Schleich of Allegheny Wants to Know Who Fooled Him.

HONEST MAN DISCREDITED

A Forged Telegram Used by Allegheny Politicians to Save H. M. Davidson's Job as Delinquent Tax Collector—Reward of $5,000 Is Offered.

Who forged John Geisler's name to the telegram which prevented Simon Schleich from attending the meeting of Allegheny common council and thereby possibly defeating the administration's efforts to prevent the passage of the ordinance abolishing the delinquent tax collector's office?

That is the question agitating the Republican committee of Allegheny, decent citizens generally, and Simon Schleich most of all.

For the man who will disclose facts leading to the arrest and conviction of the forger of the telegram which Mr. Schleich received while he was attending a union labor convention in Cleveland, $500 reward is offered. The man who knows the secret has an easy chance to earn that amount of money.

Of the total amount, $200 is offered by Mr. Schleich, the other $300 is offered by a prominent Allegheny citizen who at present desires that his name be kept covered. If the man who knows the facts that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the forger who caused an honored citizen and councilman to forfeit temporarily the respect of his friends and neighbors, will come to The Gazette office it will be proved to him, beyond peradventure of doubt that the $500 offer is bona fide.

Schleich a Consistent Reformer.

Schleich is a brass molder and a common councilman from the Fourth ward, Allegheny. He was elected on the Citizens party ticket. Mr. Schleich pledged himself to abolish the delinquent tax collectorship of Allegheny, and when the movement to do away with the office was recently begun, he was one of the prime backers. Last week Mr. Schleich attended the international convention of the Brass Molders, Buffers, Platers and Polishers union in Cleveland, as a delegate, but before going he promised Chief Brown that if a meeting of the common branch of councils was called to take up the ordinance abolishing the delinquent tax collectorship's office, he would come from Cleveland to attend the meeting. It was understood that the meeting of the common branch was to be held on Thursday night, and Mr. Schleich intended to leave Cleveland on a train that would bring him here at 7 p. m., attend the council meeting, and return to Cleveland on the train leaving here at 11:30 p. m.

Charles F. Kirschler, a Republican member of select council, is a particular friend of Mr. Schleich, although Mr. Schleich was elected to council on the Citizens party ticket. Mr. Kirschler was recognized as a sort of leader in the movement to abolish the delinquent tax collectorship and Mr. Schleich depended upon him to keep him informed.

The Misleading Telegram.

Last Wednesday at 10:50 a. m. Mr. Schleich received the following telegram over the Western Union Telegraph Company's wires:

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 19, 1903.

"Friend Simon: I met Charles Kirschler and he told me to tell you that the council meeting was postponed to next week, so you need not come up.

(Signed.) "JOHN GEISLER."

John Geisler is Simon Schleich's best friend; they have known each other for 25 years. Mr. Schleich, supposing the telegram was bona fide, remained in Cleveland attending to his duties as delegate and did not return to Allegheny until last Sunday. When he arrived home he found awaiting him an anonymous letter. It purported to come from his friends in the church to which he belongs and they deplored the fact that "for a few dollars" he had forgotten his solemn pledges and remained away from the council meeting, when by his presence he might have succeeded in abolishing the delinquent tax collectorship.

This letter hurt Mr. Schleich. He understood its drift, for on the train a friend had told him that a council meeting had been held and that the Wyman forces had succeeded in defeating the movement to abolish the delinquent tax collectorship. Schleich has always prided himself on keeping his word. He went to see Kirschler yesterday and almost cried when he showed the telegram that kept him away from Allegheny.

The dispatch was forged, for last night John Geisler appeared before Alderman P. B. Reilly and swore that he had not sent the telegram and he knew nothing about it.

Last night Mr. Schleich said he would pay $200 cash for the arrest and conviction of the man guilty of sending him the telegram, or who instrumental in getting up the scheme, and 15 minutes later another Allegheny citizen said he would pay $300 to the same good end, $500 in all.

MEAT MEN WILL MAKE BIG MARCH

Parade from Old to New Stockyards Thursday Is Expected to Be Strong.

FIVE BANDS ARE TO BE IN LINE

All Kinds of People Interested in Cattle from Pittsburgh, Allegheny and Surrounding Towns Will Take Part in the Jollification.

A committee of the commission men and live stock brokers of the East Liberty stock yards held a meeting in the office of General Manager Simon O'Donnell yesterday morning and arrangements were completed for the big parade and jollification which will mark the abandonment of the East Liberty yards, Thursday.

The members of the committee are: Chairman, Simon O'Donnell; A. McCall, Maj. Samuel W. Jefferis, Charles W. Lauer, William A. Merritt and Philip J. Brinkman. The route of the parade is: Form at Central stock yards (East Liberty) at 1 o'clock; march down Penn avenue to South Negley avenue, to Fifth avenue, to Market street, across Sixth street bridge, up Federal street, Allegheny, to Ohio street, to Chestnut street, to Sixteenth street bridge, to Penn avenue, to Thirtieth street; across bridge to new Union stock yards, Herrs Island.

Five bands have been engaged, and it is expected that at least 5,000 breeders, shippers, live stock brokers, commission men, home-dressed beef men, butchers and cattle dealers will be in line. Besides Pittsburgh and Allegheny, all the suburban towns will be represented in the parade and a number of stock raisers and cattle buyers from West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and different parts of Pennsylvania will be in Pittsburgh on Thursday to help in the celebration of get-away day.

All the butcher and live stock wagons that can be secured in Pittsburgh will be pressed into service for the parade, and the decorations will be features. Numerous banners will be carried, the inscriptions on which will be amusing. Many of the home-dressed meat men have arranged to have cattle, sheep and hogs exhibited in the parade.

Yesterday was the last big market day at the East Liberty stock yards. Forty years ago last February the yards were formally opened. Yesterday over 200 cars of cattle, about 50 cars of hogs and fully 25 cars of sheep were marketed at the East Liberty yards. It was not a record receiving day, but the receipts were many times over those of the same date 40 years ago.

General Manager O'Donnell yesterday received a message from Charles Eschler of Manning, Ia., stating that he will be here for the opening of the new Herrs Island yards with three carloads of his fine polled Angus cattle. Mr. Eschler took the grand sweepstakes prize at Chicago last December with a load of his famous cattle, which were afterward sold for 14½ cents a pound. He also came prominently before Pittsburgh cattlemen two years ago when his prize car of stock exhibited at the third annual fat stock show here took the prize and sold for 21 cents a pound. Other prominent cattle shippers have sent similar letters.

The brokers at East Liberty yards will begin moving to the new Union stock yards this afternoon. The "First of April Act" will require about two days and all will be in readiness for the first market day at the new yards next Monday. After the initial market day the live stock men and commission merchants will prepare for opening day, which will be on September 7.

Accompanied by Two Runners Daughter of Sidney Dillon Breaks Mark at Readville.

QUARTER DONE IN 29 SECONDS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

READVILLE, MASS., Aug. 24.—Before a great crowd of spectators at Readville today and with track and weather conditions perfect, Lou Dillon trotted a mile in two minutes, a new world's record.

So that no breeze might interfere, Millard Sanders, driver of the great mare, brought out the daughter of Sidney Dillon for the attempt early in the day. For pacemakers there were two running horses hitched to road carts, Peggy from Paris, driven by Scott Tanner, and Carrie Nation, driven by Scott McCoy.

The first score was fruitless, Lou Dillon making a break just before reaching the wire. On the second attempt, however, the word was given, though Starting Judge Walker rang his bell, but Tanner nodded for him to say "Go" and, turning to Sanders, called to him to come along. Tanner kept Peggy from Paris directly in front of the peerless chestnut trotter while McCoy lay at her wheel. In this way the trio went to the quarter pole in 29½ seconds.

With never a skip Lou Dillon went so smooth gaited down the back stretch as to lead those watching to believe the new world's speed was not alarmingly fast. The half was clicked off in 1:00¾. Around the turn to the three-quarter pole the clip quickened, the third quarter being in 30 seconds, making that mark of her journey in 1:31. Faster and faster came Tanner with the runner and right with him trotted the handsome California bred mare. Sanders was sitting perfectly still, but McCoy was urging aloud to his runner to cheer on Lou Dillon.

To the amazement of all the quarter was driven in 26 sayonds, thus making the mile in the wonderful time of two minutes.

When Sanders jogged the mare back to the wire those who had witnessed the performance leaped to their feet and sent forth cheer after cheer. Lou Dillon apparently was as fresh as though she had only been out for a jogging exercise.

Sanders said he fully believed that before the season closes he will drive the mare in 1.59 or better.

HOMESTEAD WINS FROM WAYNESBURG

Osborne Goes on Rubber and Saves Game for Risher, Relieving Washer.

AN OVATION TO JIM GANIER

Waynesburg's championship aspirations got a severe jolt yesterday afternoon at Steel Works park, when it was disposed of by Manager Risher's Homestead team, 9 to 5. The Greene county crowd looked like winners at one stage of the proceedings, the third inning, and had Capt. Edmunson kept Washer on the rubber a defeat would surely have been the portion of the steel workers.

In this round Waynesburg got five runs and five hits, and three of the tallies came after chances had been made to retire the side. With two out Coursey banged a third strike on L. McKown and then "Heavy" Torreyson dropped his throw. Buck Kenney, the former inter-scholastic player, sent a scorching single to right, clearing the bases.

Out in right Osborne was making an effort to play the field. He was allowing flies to get away for hits, and in the middle of the third inning Torreyson and Edmunson had a consultation, the result being that Jim moved to right and Osborne to left. When Homestead began its fourth inning Osborne went on the rubber and Washer to right. The change was hailed with a round of applause, while Jim Ganier, in the field and Osborne allowed but one hit, which was by L. McKeown, during the rest of the contest.

A large crowd turned out to see Waynesburg make its first appearance in this section, and the fact that it is a contender for the championship added interest to the occasion. Jimmy Ganier, last year with the steel workers, was given an ovation by the fans, but he did not get in one of his long hits which have made him famous over the independent circuit. Kenney hit well, but was a little off in his fielding. In the second inning he hit to right, which got past Osborne, and he traveled to third. Umpire Parry, however, called him out for cutting second. There was a kick on the decision by the visitors.

In the fourth inning Coursey singled and Osborne got a life. Edmunson tripled and came home on an over throw to third. Phillips, who had been lucky in getting out of bad holes, was treated rudely in the fourth. Kelsey doubled, Osborne singled, Washer did the same, Edmunson walked, Bonebrake hit, McCloskey filed out and Tate was hit by a pitched ball, and Coggins singled, all this going for five runs. Washer walked in the eighth and was worked around on errors, coming home on Montgomery's fumble of McCloskey's grounder. The score:

PHILLIES GET TIE WITH CHAMPIONS

Fast Fielding Saves Mitchell Beating—Game Called on Account of Darkness.

LEEVER, TOO, PITCHES WELL

GAMES TODAY.

Pittsburgh at Philadelphia.
Cincinnati at Brooklyn.
Chicago at New York.
St. Louis at Boston.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Aug. 24.—The Phillies put up a strong game against the champions today and after 11 innings Umpire Emslie was forced to call the game on account of darkness. With the score 2 to 2.

The work of Thomas, Wolverton, Douglass, Barry and Hulswitt killed hit after hit, and it was due to the support he received that Mitchell was not defeated.

Pittsburgh also cut off chances for the Phillies to win in the eighth and ninth innings. Outside of these two and the first and third the Phillies seldom got a man to first, and the chances offered were usually of the easiest sort. Leach played a great game at third and it was his stop in the ninth of a drive from Mitchell's bat that saved the day for Pittsburgh.

Leever was the first man to reach first for Pittsburgh, making a single in the third inning. Beaumont also hit, but Clarke's drive to left was taken in by Barry. Gleason and Wolverton made hits for the Phillies in the first, but neither got home. Thomas beat out a bunt in the third and Gleason was safe at first on a ground to Ritchey. Wolverton bunted into Leever's hands and Sam should have had Thomas at third, but instead he threw to first, allowing both runners to advance a base. Leever was called down by all his team. Kelsey filed to Beaumont, and although Jimmy caught Gleason at third, Thomas got over the plate.

Pittsburgh had a chance in the fourth, but fell down. Thomas made a running catch of Leach's fly over short, but could not get the same sort from Wagner's bat, and Haas reached second. He stole third, but Bransfield fanned and Ritchey, who got a pass, was forced at second.

In the fifth Wagner was third out with the bases full. Phelps beat out a bunt, but was forced at second by Leever. Beaumont singled and Clarke was out at first on a grounder to Douglass. Wagner put up a fly to Glenalvin.

The champions tied the score in the sixth. Ritchey hit and Sebring made a two-bagger. Phelps fly over third sent in Ritchey. Leever and Beaumont were retired, Douglass making a grand stop of Beaumont's drive. Mitchell covering the bag got the verdict on a very close decision. The Phillies bunched their hits and Leever in the eighth and earned a run. Thomas, Gleason and Wolverton were the men who found the ball, Thomas scoring.

Beaumont saved the game in the ninth by his two-bagger sending in Phelps, who had walked. Douglass started the Phillies' half of the ninth with a base hit, but was forced at second by Hulswitt. Doolin's cut put "Huf" on second. Mitchell's terrific drive was stopped by Leach, who ran Hulswitt down between second and third. Hulswitt dodged Leach and the latter fell, but Emslie called Hulswitt out.

Both sides went out in order in the tenth, and when Sebring opened in the eleventh with a three-bagger he scored the first run for the champions. Phelps, however, landed a liner in Wolverton's mitt and Sebring was almost caught off third. Leever and Beaumont failed to drive Sebring home. The score:

AN EVEN BREAK.

Chicago Takes First Argument and Mcgraw's Giants the Next.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The Chicago and New York Nationals played a double-header at the polo grounds today, in which they broke even. Babb's three misplays in the first inning practically gave the first game to the visitors. Matthewson's good work in the box for New York was offset by Brown's visitors in the second game, as he held them safely for six innings, while the home team batted Menefee freely in the first and fourth innings, driving him out of the box. JERSEYS CAUSE POOR WORK BY THE PIRATES

After Laundry Got Through With Them the Players Are Hampered in Throwing.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—At least it sounds good, this excuse of the Pittsburgh ball players for their poor work in last Thursday's game here. In that game the Pirate players all appeared on the field in new black and orange striped jerseys under their uniform shirts. The Pittsburgh uniforms are complete in this respect, and in consequence Clarke's champions always make a pleasing appearance on the field.

But on Thursday, as stated, it was noticed that the long-sleeved jerseys had been discarded. At the same time there was a marked difference in the playing of the infielders. After the game Tommy Leach was the butt of a lot of good natured kidding because of the poor work he had done in the first inning.

"I never had anything on the ball at all in my throwing," said Leach, "and it was all made worse when it dcsen't wild throws in the game, several of which were costly. On our arrival in New York we took our uniforms washed. The laundry man did the work all right, but knew how to wash the jerseys and the tags would not run, thank Goodness. Some of the boys noticed that they had run out we tried to throw. Mine bound my shoulder so tightly until after the game had begun that I could not throw across the diamond, and as to the direction, well, I did not have any idea where the ball was going."

TEACHERS HEAR WISE SPEAKERS

Fifty-Third Annual Institute of Allegheny County Educators Opens.

ONE THOUSAND ENROLLED

Three Hundred More Expected to Record Names Today—Capable Men Made Addresses—Good Program Arranged for Today.

There was a large crowd of public school teachers at Carnegie Institute yesterday at the opening of the 53d annual institute of the Allegheny county teachers. The entire morning session was given up to the enrollment of members, about 1,000 names being recorded, which number will be increased today by fully 300.

The first formal session was called to order by County Superintendent Samuel Hamilton, who is president of the institute by virtue of his position. He announced as his assistants, all of whom are new appointees, Superintendents Grant Norris of Braddock, J. M. Norris of Homestead, and J. L. Allison of Wilkinsburg, vice presidents, and W. S. Byran, principal of the Carnegie schools, as secretary. The committees announced were D. B. Berger, J. C. Spricher and J. E. Wherry on resolutions, and C. E. Dickey, Miss Stella Long and Miss Anna B. Jennings on necrology. The instructors are: Dr. A. E. Winship, Boston; Dr. W. W. Black, Chicago; Dr. R. A. Armstrong, Morgantown, W. Va.; Dr. W. N. Ferris, Big Rapids, Mich.; musical director, Prof. T. L. Gibson, Ebensburg, Pa.; county treble chorus, Prof. A. L. Fillmore, director. The first regular speaker was Dr. A. E. Winship, editor of the New England Journal of Education. He is recognized as one of the foremost educators of the country. He has been engaged in educational and journalistic work most of his life. He takes a sane interest in politics.

Career of a Well Known Educator.

Mr. Winship was for some years editor-in-chief of the Daily Traveler of Boston and was a delegate from Massachusetts to the national Republican convention at St. Louis which nominated William McKinley for president. He has been president of two leading educational associations and it was through him that the National Educational association met in Boston this year, when 30,000 teachers were entertained. In his opening address Dr. Winship said in part:

"There is a habit, all too general, of speaking of educational ways and means as not keeping up with other professions, whereas no profession is making greater strides. President Butler of Columbia college said recently that the young man who graduated from that college today has not gotten as much out of his college course as the young man who graduated 25 years ago. (He graduated 26 years ago.) This is a universal fault of human nature. No pies are so good as those our mothers made.

"Educational affairs have progressed as rapidly as the surgery, law or theology. Seventy years ago there was more money paid for private school tuition than the entire public school appropriation. Seventy years ago there was no public school system; no public school writer on professional educational topics, no public school teachers writing text-books, no free public high school outside of one in Boston; fifty years ago save for free public high school for girls, no school supervision. Forty years ago there was no teaching of history, literature, drawing, music, cooking, sewing, manual training, no well heated, lighted or ventilated school houses, and flogging was universal.

Mr. Winship gave facts suggestive of his line of proof that arithmetic, reading and spelling are better taught than ever before; that as many subjects are taught as of old, and that in manners and morals the schools are far ahead of ye olden time. This talk was given as a forerunner of his other talks this week on "Twentieth Century Standards in Education."

Dr. Black on Purpose of the School.

Dr. Black of Chicago spoke on "The Purpose of the School." He said that the school or any other institution serves its purpose when it helps men to fill their highest places in the world; that that school is a successful school which helps men to enter active life with the understanding of life's problems and an ability to undertake to solve some of these problems. School for school's sake only, and business for its own sake, are alike failures.

Dr. W. N. Ferris of Big Rapids, Mich., spoke on "Mental Arithmetic." He announced that in his after discussion of "Arithmetic" he expected to set forth opinions and doctrines which would, doubtless, meet with the hearty disapproval of many members of the institute, but these opinions, he hoped, would, at least, furnish food for much thought. He expressed himself in favor of postponing the study of arithmetic until the fourth grade in the public school.

He argued that the children in the first grade are not ready to study arithmetic, and the pursuit of the study is useless and injurious to the very little folks. The speaker divided his discussion into two parts in answer to the questions, "What Shall Be Taught in Arithmetic?" and "How Shall Arithmetic Be Taught?"

Arguments of Dr. Ferris.

Dr. Ferris argued that more practical matter should be taught and that less dependence should be placed on the black board and slate and that the mind should be continually called into play. He summarized his objections to teaching numbers to children in the first school year by saying that they are not ready for it, have no use for it and are injured by this sort of instruction.

The program for today is as follows: Morning, 9:45, "The Organic Relation of the Elements of the School," Dr. Black; music; "Arithmetic," Dr. Ferris; recess; "The New Geography," Dr. Winship; afternoon, 1:30, "The Art of Study," Dr. Ferris; music; "The New English," Dr. Winship; recess; "The Organic Relation of the Elements of the School," Dr. Black.

There was a somewhat surprising attendance yesterday of educators from districts outside of the bailiwick of the county institute, which indicates more than usual general interest in the proceedings.

300,000 Visitors Crowd Beach and Boardwalk at Atlantic City.

HOTELS ARE OVERFLOWING

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Young's Ocean Pier,
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 24.

The height of the season was reached here yesterday when nearly 300,000 people crowded the boardwalk and beach. Although the travel by rail was not so heavy yesterday and Saturday as it was last week, yet it is estimated that more people were in town yesterday by reason of the large crowd which has been here during the past two or three weeks. During the past week the travel was the heaviest ever known to this city. Extra trains were put on both roads and many of these ran in sections. Several large excursions came in from the west, south and north and helped to swell the crowd thereby. On Saturday between 50,000 and 60,000 people were brought here by both roads and yesterday 10,000 more were brought in for the day. This is less than the number brought a week ago. All the hotels are full and have been full for two weeks and most of them are packing people in the parlors, in the hallways and anywhere else a cot can be placed.

BIG DAY FOR HEPTASOPHS.

Seven Special Trains to Run to Rock Springs Tomorrow.

The outing of the Heptasophs at Rock Springs park, W. Va., tomorrow is expected to be one of the largest gatherings seen at this resort this season. Five special trains are to be run out from Pittsburgh, one from Greensburg and one from Connellsville. The amusement committee has provided for 10 field events and five handsome prizes are to be awarded in each contest. The ball game between Beulah conclave of Pittsburgh and Ethal conclave of Allegheny promises to be of special interest.

The following compose the committee of arrangements: Dr. W. A. McGiffon, N. F. Savage, E. A. McKeone, John Roth, Galen Groff, P. P. Blackmore, A. C. McCullough, N. T. Ashbaugh, S. M. Rutledge, John Konstanzer, R. R. Cooper, W. B. Gardner, R. E. McCluskey and R. E. McCarty.

HEALTH OFFICIALS ACTIVE.

Many Fined in McKeesport for Permitting Unsanitary Conditions to Exist.

Thirty-seven prosecutions made by the board of health at McKeesport were disposed of yesterday by Alderman W. D. Mansfield and Alderman L. N. Morgan. All were fined amounts ranging from $2 and costs to $5 and costs.

The charges were made by Health Officer C. A. Walker, who has begun a crusade against overcrowded boarding houses and the maintenances of nuisances in backyards and alleys. More prosecutions are being prepared by the health authorities.

To Entertain at Sewickley.

Reynold Ritchey will entertain a few friends informally at the home in Hill street, Sewickley, this evening.

Miss Lulu McPherson will entertain at her home in Sewickley Thursday evening in honor of her house guest, Miss Pearl Carpenter.

AT THE THEATERS LAST NIGHT

IT IS a long jump from the Klondike to Mulberry street, in New York, and the big audiences that packed the Bijou theater at two performances yesterday had little time to become acclimated in the sudden shift of scenery from the land of the frozen north to the musty tenements of a great city; but everybody seemed to be well pleased. Charles E. Blaney, when he wrote "The Child Slaves of New York," which was produced in Pittsburgh yesterday for the first time, took all kinds of license in the matter of globe-trotting, and he lost a big task for his scene painters. Notwithstanding the torrid weather there was not a vacant seat in the theater as a result of the desire of the people to see the new melodrama.

It was a good thing, perhaps, that the prologue yesterday showed a scene among the glaciers in the shadows of Mt. St. Elias. It made the people in the balconies forget that the temperature was around 90 degrees and that the August sun seemed to have been given renewed strength. There is not a moment in the play when there is not a wealth of action. Climaxes are always forming, and the emotions are kept on nerve tension. There is always a fitting background for those melodramatic moments when the audience is supposed to be hushed to silence and low music is called for. When the villain begins his cruel work he stands out in the glare of the stage spot-lights, and in the later scenes he is seen in the blinking lights along the harbor of East river in New York. Next he appears away up among the clouds in the Flatiron building, and finally comes to grief in the dark depths of the sewer.

In the problem of child labor Mr. Blaney has an excellent field to test the emotional qualities of his actors and overlooks no opportunity to keep his comedians busy. He leaves the solving of the problem to the audience after the people have been entertained by the actors and the scene painters. "The Child Slaves of New York" doubtless will have a long run. A good company has been engaged and the specialties introduced by George Mack, Ida Howell and Maggie Meredith were well received.

Academy—"The Tiger Lilies."

Variety shows continue to overstep the legitimate. The success of Harry Morris last season in his musical comedy indicated that the patrons of vaudeville were being educated to enjoy something better than the stereotyped burlesque put on to introduce the performers in the olio. Last week the absence of the slap stick in the performance given by Harry Williams, Jr., was a treat and now at the Academy of Music the Scribner-Drew Tiger Lilies company is seen in a show which is far above the ordinary plane of the common variety entertainment. The stifling stairway, the slap stick, the "hannel-mouthed" Irish comedian, the "con" man who demands "two tens for a five" and the threadbare character of the stage Jew, have been relegated to the poorest class of melodramas; and the variety performance in consequence has been improved by the change. The Tiger Lilies give good, rollicking farces, and every number in the olio aggregation is far above the usual standard.

At the Traction Parks.

This is the season's last week of vaudeville at Calhoun and Southern parks, and the farewell bills are good, strong ones, including an unusually fine array of talent. There are large crowds at all the traction resorts last night despite the counter attractions at the theaters and the big Barnum & Bailey circus. The boat may ride to and from the parks especially pleasant.

At Calhoun park Creush and Richards, in a novelty musical sketch, have a turn which merits the approval accorded it last night. The Mitchells, a man and a lad about 14 years old, are a clever team of funmakers, who wind up with a genuine novelty boxing bout. Fred Nolan, "the man from the Bowery," furnished plenty of mirth and Bedini and Arthur do a wonderful cycling act. They are a real sensation.

At Southern park the Epps, a clever colored team, gave the first exhibition of dancing in a sketch entitled "Coonology," and Davos, the acrobatic tramp, was agile as well as comical. Mamie Goodrich, comedienne, made a good impression, and Professor Morel's trained dogs, cats, apes and rats, display remarkable intelligence, and are a whole show in themselves. Friday night is the last "amateur night" at these parks.

Last night at Kennywood the crowds in the steeplechase building were entertained by the Rooseelo concert band, which, with Mlle. Dumont, the singer, and John Martha, the comedian, both of whom came in for a good share of the applause, made up a good bill.

Empire—"The Irish Pawnbrokers."

Joe W. Spear's comedians presented the musical farce comedy, "The Irish Pawnbrokers," to a big house at the Empire last evening. Not only was the house large, but the audience was a responsive one, appreciating the good things in the show. A plot of family troubles runs through the comedy and serves to connect a number of specialties, as well as to furnish a central idea for the whole. The "musical interruptions" are frequent and good. The singing of Maria Bruenhall will please. Morgan and Janet J. Mack in the fifty called "A Little Bird," made a special hit, while no less than eight encores were demanded of the Knight Brothers in their specialty. Miss Trumbull is the leading woman of the company, both in title and in reality. As Armenia, the reason of the racket, she holds a central place, while Marguerite O'Flaherty, assisted by Mack, and Levi Murphy, the part taken by McCabe, have places of almost equal prominence. Will Kinkel as Mr. Abram Cure, Esq., a shyster, succeeds in making the entanglement of family relations of material aid in his financial stringency.

Duquesne Garden—"Fra Diavolo."

"It's a good opera," said the wise man when "Fra Diavolo" was adopted as the production for the last week but one of this season at the Duquesne garden. "It's well done," was the comment of the audience after the opening performance last evening. The attendance was good. Aubec's romantic opera is nearly better rendered than by the Duquesne stock company. Jack Raffael as Fra Diavolo, the villain-hero of the opera, sings and acts well. The Lorenzo of William Stephens and the Giacomo of John Lance both took well with the audience, and a ridiculous parody of a serious bit of opera by the humorist Beppo was one of the gems of last night's performance. Jr. Sophine Bartlett as Lady Allcash and W. G. Shelley as Lord Allcash, carried through their work with credit. The part of Beppo was taken by Clarence Corliss. Fra Reynolds, Mr. Strang and Grace Bauer were Matteo, Rosetta and Francesco, respectively. Mary Carrington had the part of Zerlina. Each in turn was given recognition for work well done.

LARGE CROWDS TURNED OUT TO SEE THE SHOW

Many New and Startling Features in the Barnum & Bailey Display.

From the moment the flaps of the main entrance were opened to give the crowd a look at the many strange animals in the menagerie until the last note of the singers in the vaudeville afterpiece had died out there were two solid hours of enjoyment for those who attended the two performances of the Barnum & Bailey show yesterday. The huge six-pole tent, 200x460 feet, put up on the lot below the Exposition baseball grounds in Allegheny was taxed almost to its capacity of 14,800 persons yesterday at each performance.

Many features in several lines had never been seen here before, while there were some old-timers among the freaks that many people had thought dead long ago. "Zip," the what-is-it; Coffee, the skeleton dude; Charles Tripp, the armless wonder, and Krao, the missing link, all had been seen here in the days of the late lamented Barnum. There were forgotten, however. In looking over the curious new freaks and acts. One innovation and good feature of the show is that most of the freaks can be seen without paying the extra admission charged in the sideshows.

Such a display of fine horses is seldom seen as that with the Barnum & Bailey Company. One beautiful white horse driven by a woman, is said to have 18 gaits.

The herd of 24 elephants also had many wise and well-trained beasts among them. One particularly interesting feature of the display of the elephants was the representation of a battle in which the brutes fired guns, revolvers and cannons and one limped off on three legs as if he had been injured. The keeper feigned death, and two elephants, after placing the American flag over his body, picked him up with their trunks and carried him out of the ring.

There were many aerial artists, all good, but the palm was carried off by the Clarksonians, who did a number of merits that have not been seen here before. They seem to start where the trapeze artists leave off. One of the two brothers' acts that received rounds of applause was the leaping of one from a trapeze, turning a double somersault and a half later in the air and then being caught by his companion in the other trapeze.

Three rings and two stages were kept going continuously. At least half of the 28 funny clowns with the show were in some part of the tent all the time. To start enumerating, at the menageries and 25 cent dime museum, the living human curiosities, the models of United States warships, the beautiful "Tribute of Bal-Kals," with its fine ballet and good singers, the bicyclist who "ride on a perpendicular surface, the leapers, tumblers, trained chickens, dogs, geese, and other animals, the races and the many other features would be tedious.

During the morning a big street parade took place and was witnessed by thousands in Pittsburgh and Allegheny and it is said that the receipts from the performances twice today and tomorrow, this being the first time that a big tent show has ever held forth for more than two days in either Pittsburgh or Allegheny.

John Elsler's Body Passes Through.

The body of the late John A. Elsler, the well-known Pittsburgh and Cleveland manager, who died suddenly at Put-in-Bay night at the residence of his daughter, Belle Elsler Giles, Frank Weston, passed through the city yesterday morning, accompanied by the widow and son of the deceased. Frank Weston, the remains will be buried in Cleveland today.

The original plans were for an overhead crossing, but it has been decided that at this point, and to be reached from Center avenue, Verona, to Penn street, Oakmont.

MUST SIGN NAMES WITH RAILROAD INK

Pennsylvania Lines Issues Radical Order to Avoid Scaping as a Result of Investigation.

To prevent the scalping to theatres the Pennsylvania Lines will hereafter require that each purchaser of a "signature" ticket sign the ticket at the railroad office and with ink and pen furnished by the company's agent.

After an exhaustive investigation conducted by the Railway Ticket Protective bureau it has been found that the brokers employ specially prepared inks and fountain pens, which are furnished to their agents. In purchasing tickets these brokers' agents will politely sign with their own pens, which are filled with volatile ink. The signature quickly evaporates, leaving a blank form which can be manipulated to suit the purchaser.

The bureau has just issued an exhaustive report on the subject and this report has been made a part of a special order over the signature of K. A. Ford, general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania Lines west, to the effect that hereafter the ticket agents must see to it that each purchaser of a "signature" ticket signs that ticket before it is taken from the office, and that the company's pens and ink must be used in the operation.

POLE PLANTING FIGHT.

Exciting Scenes in McKeesport When Property Owners Resisted Company's Men.

A battle between a gang of men employed by the Monongahela Light Company and four property owners in front of whose homes the men desired to place a large pole, occasioned much excitement in Jerome street, McKeesport, yesterday afternoon.

The light men first attempted to place the hole in front of the residence of Mrs. John Toepler. She planted herself in the hole and the men then tried to dig a hole in front of the home owned by William Geiger, one of the property defenders. After the hole was dug Geiger arrived and fought the men off, also filling up the hole.

A third attempt was made in front of the home of Benjamin Wyman. The latter was notified and he met the men there and arrived just in time to prevent the pole being placed. All the property owners intend to stay on guard until the matter is settled, if necessary, to outwit the company.

Burlington Route

To California via the Scenic Line.

Either going or returning, be sure to take advantage of the through Pullman palace sleeping car which runs between Chicago and San Francisco daily, over our line between Chicago and Denver (with direct connection from St. Louis to Denver), the Denver & Rio Grande Railway, part all the glories of Colorado mountain scenery by daylight, through Salt Lake City and over the Southern Pacific between Ogden and San Francisco.

It would be unfortunate not to go by this route, one way or the other, in making the California trip. There is no scenery in America that compares with that of Colorado.

Personally conducted parties also go via this route every week from Chicago and St. Louis.

PLETHORA OF WOE CHARGED TO WIFE

McKendry Alleged His Better Half Did Almost Everything Disagreeable She Could.

WIFE MAKES DENIAL OF STORY

Husband States She Threatened to Suicide and Leave Evidence That He Murdered Her—Plaintiffs Attempt to Recover Money Lost on Stocks.

George W. McKendry, the libellant in a divorce suit against his wife, Pink McKendry, in his testimony filed yesterday by the commissioner, Attorney T. D. McCloskey, declares that his wife tried to get him to wash dishes and do domestic work, and when he refused she would allow the dishes to stand and then use them again next morning. Mr. McKendry declares she would pick up chairs or anything she could get her hands on and threaten to throw them through the window; that she threatened to commit suicide and leave evidence that would convict him of murder; that she struck him with her flists and shoes, and refused to allow him to smoke in the house.

McKendry states that he returned home one evening and found his wife lying on the floor with a bottle beside her.

"Good by, George; I have drunk all of that acid, and I hope you will have a good time," she is quoted as having exclaimed. He says his wife had poured the carbolic acid out of the bottle that stood beside her into another bottle. He stated that once when he insisted upon her preparing lunch for him she spread glass on the biscuit. He testified that Mrs. McKendry hit him one time, and that he had a hard time getting loose from her; that she would drink whisky with horseradish grated in it, and that he was afraid to eat his meals, as there was Paris green and stuff like that around the house.

The libellant said he received a whitecap letter upon one occasion that had been written by his wife, or some of her accomplices. The letter is attached as an exhibit, and reads as follows:

"FAIR WARNING."

"We are onto you now. If you do not change you way and treat your wife nice we will on you some night. DETECTIVES."

McKendry also declares that his wife said she employed two colored men to waylay him; that Mrs. McKendry often struck him until his face was one mass of blood, and on account of her actions he could not sleep nights.

Mrs. McKendry denies all these statements.

The master in the divorce case of Charles F. Jones against Nellie May Snyder, filed his report, recommending that a decree be granted.

Henry Eckhardt filed a libel in divorce against his wife Elizabeth. He alleges infidelity.

A bill in equity was filed by George E. Deeners, Paul E. Noffer and James Deeners against the Diamond National bank and Richmond & Co. The plaintiffs ask that the bank be enjoined from paying out any money paid by them to Richmond & Co., brokers in Pittsburgh, who formerly carried on a bucketshop at Dumbarton, Md. The plaintiffs claim they deposited $6,242 with the firm to make deals as a bet, which they have a right to repudiate, and this they do and ask for a return of their money.

Legal Briefs.

The Fidelity Title & Trust Company through Assistant Trust Officer Albert V. Bennett, was granted letters of administration on the $3,500 estate of Charles T. McClintock, deceased.

In the suit of William C. Bryant against the Southwest Pennsylvania pipe lines, a statement has been filed which asks for $1,000 damages for the alleged contamination of a water well by oil from the plaintiff's lines.

In the United States circuit court Lawrence A. Fletcher was appointed receiver of the Peerless Glass Company of Ellwood City on the petition of John Keating, James A. McHenry and James Clark of Maryland, who allege the company is insolvent.

The Superior Goldlaxe Improved Order of Heptasophs entered suit against John L. Shoaf for $200, an amount alleged to be in the defendant's hands and which he retained after settling the estate of Treasurer Shoaf of the executive committee of the order. The amount, it is alleged, is a contingent fund of the order.

Petitions in bankruptcy were filed in the United States district court by Miles S. Milton of Jackson township, Venango county, who gives his liabilities as $9,451.17 and assets at $7,315; Jacob Bowman of Derry Station, liabilities, $3,000, with no assets, and Morris Lawman of Shelocta, whose liabilities aggregate $5,970, with no assets.

In answer to the bill of John R. Morris to the quo-warranto proceedings brought by E. Lindsay Grier, requiring the former to show cause why he exercises the office of school director of Oakmont, Morris avers that Grier wilfully absented himself from the board meeting called for organization, and at several meetings following. At the meeting on June 29 last, Morris states that he was not given final notice to appear, and when he did not his place was declared vacant and he, Morris, was elected in his place.

FAILURE OF A BROKER ANNOUNCED BY MISTAKE

Eager Attorneys Cause Embarrassment to Member of New York Exchange.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Considerable surprise was caused in Wall street this morning by the publication of a statement by news agencies that the assignment of Edgar C. Jurgensen, a member of the stock exchange at No. 59 Broad street, had been filed at the county clerk's office today. Stocks declined rather smartly, but steadied again when it was announced a little later that the assignment was a mistake, due to a misunderstanding; that the assignment papers had been cancelled, and that Mr. Jurgensen remained a member in good standing. Evidence of this fact was furnished by the appearance of Mr. Jurgensen on the floor as usual. No explanation has been announced on the exchange, as is customary when an assignment is made. Mr. Jurgensen said that the filing of the assignment was a mistake.

"I thought on Friday that I would have to assign," said he, "but I had Saturday and until today to make good under the rules. I went to my lawyers, Stern & Bushmore, and had them make out the necessary papers for the court proceedings. I also made out the stock exchange notice.

"Over Sunday I got things fixed up and decided not to assign. Before I got down town this morning, though, the lawyers got in their work. That is the reason the assignment was filed. My affairs were in such shape that I did not need to assign, so I did not file the notice with the stock exchange."

ZIONIST MOVEMENT GROWING RAPIDLY

Great Enthusiasm at Convention Over Address by Nardau Praising America.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

BASLE, Aug. 24.—The report of the committee, read at the Zionist congress by Oskar Mamorek of the shekel contributions for the year, shows a growth of 150 per cent in the number of enrolled members of the Zionist societies, the last to come in being Scandinavia, Crete, Morocco and Cochin-China.

Isolated criticisms of Herzl's report have been given an unfavorable reception by the congress. There has been discussion in caucus of the British government's offer by various delegations. Resolutions adopted by them have been referred to a special committee. During the morning session an ovation to Max Nordau was delivered amid great enthusiasm. A prominent part of the address was devoted to the action of the government of the United States regarding Roumania and Russia. The statement that for the first time in history a foreign power had intervened repeatedly in behalf of the oppressed Jews, was received by the congress with tremendous applause.

Among the Americans taking part in the proceedings of the day were Cyrus Sulzberger, the noted New York philanthropist; Henry Friedenwald, the Baltimore physician, and Catherine Cohen, the noted Philadelphia sculptress. The roll of prominent Zionists who died during the year included the name of Rabbi Gustav Gottheil of New York.

FURTHER DELAY OPPOSED.

Great Britain and Germany Want Venezuelan Arbitration Postponed.

PARIS, Aug. 24.—Wayne MacVeagh, senior counsel for the United States in the Venezuelan arbitration, leaves here tomorrow for The Hague, where he will join Minister Bowen and Jules Penfield. He says that if there is any delay it will be wholly due to Great Britain's and Germany's action in putting off from May 8 to August 15 their request that the czar appoint the arbitrators. Counsel for the Venezuelan and American interests will strenuously object to any request of Great Britain or Germany for further delay.

STOCKS FLUCTUATED WITHIN NARROW LIMITS

N. Y. Central Weak, While U. S. Steel Was Steady. Pittsburgh Coal Common Strong—Crucible and Fire Proofing Weak and Lower.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The eastern stock market yesterday was a dull and professional affair. The fluctuations were narrow, and the total sales reached only 286,000 shares. The London market opened weak, but recovered before the opening in Wall street, and moderate buying by foreigners gave the initial transactions a steady to firm tone. Then the report was given currency of the suspension of a stock exchange trader, which caused some selling of stock, but a little later it was discovered that the reported suspension was an error, the trader in question having succeeded in putting his affairs in such shape that his standing on the exchange remained unimpaired. This correction was followed by a moderate recovery in the general list, but at no time was there any animation in the market, and the day brought forth no news of an influential character.

A noticeable feature of the market was the steadiness of the steel stocks, the buying of United States Steel common and preferred being by prominent commission houses which are sometimes credited with representing the old syndicate interest. The common stock opened at 22, declined to 21¾, which was the low price for the day, recovered to 22⅜ and closed at 22¼. The low point for the preferred was 69⅜, made near the opening, from which there was a recovery to 70⅝, the close being at 70. The new 5s opened at 78½, declined to 78¼, and closed at 78½. Amalgamated Copper opened higher at 47¼ and advanced to 47¾, later declining to 46⅛ and closing at 47. There was a decline in the metal market in London, but the domestic market was reported strong at last week's advance. Tennessee Coal and Iron declined 2 per cent to 40 and closed at the lowest. Sugar declined 1 per cent to 114¼, recovered to 115½ and closed at 11. The United States Realty and Construction stocks were weak, but rallied a fraction at the close.

New York Central was the weakest of the railroad list. The stock opened at 121⅜, declined to 120¾ and closed at 120⅝. There was no news to account for the pressure of the stock, but on the decline traders offered 60-day sellers' options at a concession, suggesting that a bear raid may be in contemplation. St. Paul declined from 141 to 139¾ and closed at 140. Pennsylvania was also lower, declining from 152⅜ to 122⅝, closing at 123¼. Baltimore & Ohio declined 1 per cent to 81⅜ and closed at 81½. It was thought that the selling of this class of stocks might have been due in part to the liquidation of accounts of firms which failed two weeks ago, and possibly some of the blocks of stocks taken over by the banks during the first week in the month are now being liquidated. Chicago & Northwestern held steady all day at 168. The company reported an increase in gross earnings for July of $784,858, bringing the increase for two months of the current fiscal year up to $1,894,713. Missouri Pacific sold down to 71⅜, closing at 71¾, recovered to 93, but reacted to 92⅜ at the close. Atchison declined ¾ per cent to 60¾, rallied to 61⅜ and closed at 60¾. Rock Island declined from 27¼ to 26½ and closed at the low point. Erie was comparatively firm within a narrow range of fluctuations. Canadian Pacific was one of the firmest of the railroads, advancing to 125⅞ and closing at 125¼. It was the general report that commission business was lighter than it has been for several weeks, and that the fluctuations were due almost entirely to the operations of room traders.

Call money rates ranged between 2 and 1½ per cent, closing at the lowest. The sub-treasury paid out $140,000 on account of gold deposited at Pacific coast points and transferred to New York.

The two most prominent features of the local stock board yesterday were the strength of Pittsburgh Coal common and the weakness in Crucible Steel. Pittsburgh Coal opened unchanged at 30⅜, and in the face of weakness in nearly everything else on the list, advanced steadily, touching 32½ and closing at 32 bid. The market was evidently well cleaned up, for there were no offerings at the close. The preferred stock did not sympathize with the early strength in common, and sold off to 81⅝, but late in the session it recovered to 82½, a net gain of ½ per cent. Within the past three weeks the sales of the common on the exchange have exceeded 20,000 shares, and private transactions are said to have been nearly as large. If brokers were in a position to increase their margin business the dealings would have been much larger, for despite the fact that the street is entirely without information as to the nature of the deal that is supposed to be pending, the public has been eager to buy. This desire has been strengthened by the evidence of absorption of the stock at a time when the market both here and in the east was undergoing liquidation. But inability to obtain additional accommodation in bank has shut out the average trader, and the bulk of the recent buying has been for customers who are able to buy outright.

Crucible Steel common furnished a strong contrast on account of its extreme weakness. The stock opened lower at 10⅝ and broke to 9, the lowest ever quoted. There was no evidence of supporting orders on the break, but the stock was in fair demand at the decline. The preferred stock also broke to the lowest in two years, selling down to and closing at 70, a net loss of 1½ per cent for the day. The weakness was based upon the liquidation of margin stock. This was apparent in the remainder of the list, notably in National Fire Proofing. The common stock of the latter broke 2 points to 21 and was offered at 20⅝ at the close, the lowest ever quoted. The preferred stock broke to and closed at 30½, which is also a new low record. Heretofore there has been a good market for Crucible common on any slight decline, but yesterday the buying power was apparently at a minimum, owing to the prevailing stringency in the money market. A small lot of Harbison-Walker preferred changed hands at 60, a drop of 5 points from the last previous sale. River Coal preferred declined a fraction to 37½ and closed at that price bid. United States Steel common was one of the few stocks that closed at a fractional gain, but the preferred was lower at 69⅝. Westinghouse Electric sold off to 82 and closed at 81 bid. Gas stocks were dull and barely steady. There was very little doing in the banking group. Federal National declined 1 per cent to 148, while German American Trust advanced 2 to 157. Home Trust sold at 126, and Iron City Trust was offered at 136½. River Coal 6s sold to the extent of $15,000 at 113½, and Pittsburgh Brewing 6s declined ½ per cent to 110. The market closed dull and heavy, with the exception of Pittsburgh Coal.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The net decline in Crucible Steel common was only a little more than a point, but it attracted general attention for the reason that $9 a share marks a new low record for the stock, and also for the reason that there is probably no other non-dividend paying common stock in the local market that is so well distributed. Two prominent officials stated that there was nothing whatever in the affairs of the company to justify any decline in the stock; that business was good, and the financial position of Crucible would compare favorably with that of any other industrial concern. On the exchange the decline was ascribed solely to the condition of the money market. Pittsburgh is probably the tightest money market in the country. Next week the banks will certainly be likely to begin checking upon local depositories for funds, in accordance with the notification to this effect given several weeks ago, and the banks are evidently preparing for the drain. At all events they have been calling loans and brokers have been experiencing some difficulty in shifting loans. In some instances they have notified customers that their margin accounts, and inability to do this has been followed by liquidation in the stock market. As stated in this department last week the fiscal year of Crucible ends with this month, and the annual meeting will be held in October, when the first official warrant for the statement, but it is believed that the earnings for the year will compare favorably with last year and the year before. Crucible was a prolific dividend payer, the high premiums which existed for other iron and steel products, and the return of the general market to a normal price level would not affect Crucible itself to the same extent as some of the other steel producers.

Crucible Steel preferred declined to 70, which is within 5 points of the price at which the stock sold in November, 1900, when it first came upon the market. It has always been a favorite with investors, first because of the high character of the management, and second for the reason that there are no mortgage bonds ahead of the stock. The guarantee of the Clairton bonds by the Crucible was transferred to the recent deal wherein the United States Steel and other interests acquired three-fourths of the Clairton plant, thereby releasing Crucible from the mortgage liability on the bonds. The common stock at 9 and the preferred at 70 represents a total of 79 per cent, or 21 per cent under the original underwriting. $3,000,000 capital at these prices has a market value of less than $2,400,000, and the net earnings last year of $2,302,300 is equivalent to 77⅓ per cent on the current market value. The decline in the preferred stock is especially significant, as it looked upon as the sympathetic movement to establish a parity with United States Steel preferred. The Crucible Steel preferred stock is closely held as there are no floating holdings in it have been gradually distributing.

Additional proof that the weakness in the local market yesterday was due largely to forced liquidation is adduced of the heavy market was furnished in the decline in National Fire Proofing stocks, which also sold at the lowest prices ever quoted. The common stock, on which a quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent is payable today, was offered at 20½ at the close. At this price the stock pays about 14 per cent on the investment. Fire Proofing differs from other industrial propositions in that its common stock issue is only a little more than one-half the amount of the preferred issue, the former being $4,000,000 and the latter $8,000,000.

In the stock market values are to a large extent calculated by comparison, and of late there has been a disposition in congress everywhere to look with favor upon the United States Steel. The fact that United States Steel common at current prices pays a little more than 18 per cent and the preferred exactly 70 per cent on the par value is responsible for the comparisons instituted between these stocks and other industrial issues. This is particularly true of local industrial stocks. The prevailing idea appears to be that everything should come down to a parity with United States Steel, and not that United States Steel should recover to a parity with other stocks of a similar character.

A little more than 3,000 shares of Pittsburgh Coal common changed hands yesterday. The bulk of the buying was by Master & Co. and Holmes & Bole Harbaw and Hamilton each took a block of 500 shares, and the remainder of the selling was well distributed. At the close there was no stock offering and 32 was bid for quotable lots.

Messrs McFarlane, Crawford and Miller were on the exchange yesterday for the first time since their return from Europe and received a hearty greeting from fellow members. The gross earnings of 40 roads for the second week in August increased 11.13 per cent.

The Farmers Deposit National bank announces that the Farmers Deposit Savings bank will open for business next Monday in the new building at Fifth avenue and Wood street.

It is reported that the Gould-Rockefeller combination is bidding for control of the Chicago Great Western property.

Whatever may have been the cause of the slump in the price of the preferred stock of the United States Realty and Construction Company, it is a very evident fact that it has had a very disquieting influence on the general situation. There was no limit to the rumors that the break in the stock started, and the reticence of those who are familiar with the affairs of the company accentuated the nervous feeling. The general rumor, on the one that finds the readiest acceptance, is that the dividend on the preferred will be passed or reduced. Should this be done it will be certainly at variance with the assurances as to the standing of the company contained in an official statement which was issued three months of the year were made public. The figures themselves were not especially satisfactory, but they did not indicate such drastic action as the cutting out of the dividend on the preferred stock would be necessary. Until such action is officially announced it is not well to accept it as absolutely certain, but the outlook is not encouraging. There is one and possibly two pools in the stock, and the selling of the stock by certain alleged insiders helped the decline. Foods notes say more than the bullish operators.—New York Sun.

REAL ESTATE IN SEWICKLEY SOLD

Thorne Terrace Plan Will Be Improved With Ten Nice Dwelling Houses.

MURRAY HILL AVENUE DEAL

Apartment Houses to Be Erected at Trafford City—Mayflower Street Dwelling Sold—Twenty-Second Ward Property Changes Owners.

A real estate deal is under way in Sewickley involving the transfer of a number of choice building lots, the completion of the deal to be followed by the erection of several new dwellings. The property consists of 24 lots in the Thorne Terrace plan, owned by Mrs. Mary E. White, the lots measuring each 45x128 feet, valued at about $2,000 each, or close to $50,000 for the block in question. The buyer is a local contractor who agrees, as a part of the sales contract, to build 10 houses to cost not less than $5,000 each, four of the buildings to be completed by January 1, next, and six more to be ready within a year.

A total investment of $100,000 is contemplated immediately, which will be followed soon by residences to be erected on the remainder of the lots. Thorne Terrace plan lies between the Ft. Wayne railroad and the Ohio river, and is the last vacant tract in Sewickley. The plot contains 81 lots, ranging in price from $1,500 to $2,200, and negotiations are on foot for a number of single sales in addition to the transfer of the block in question. Chadwick avenue is the northern boundary of the plan, which is intersected by River avenue, a new street recently cut through.

Squirrel Hill Sale

H. W. Smith, Jr., trustee, has sold the Mrs. Lyttle houses, on the west side of Murray Hill Avenue, Squirrel Hill, known as Nos. 1158, 1160 and 1162 Murray Hill avenue, for a price close to $22,500. The houses are 8-room dwellings, standing on lots measuring 30x170 feet each, and were purchased by three men who are close friends, and who will occupy the properties after the present leases expire. It is understood that A. Z. Byers & Co. made the deal.

The Real Estate Trust Company sold for H. Michaelyan to a Pittsburgh investor property on the northeast corner of Fifth street and Cavitt avenue, Trafford City, for $10,000. The property consists of several lots each fronting 42 feet in Cavitt avenue. The purchaser will erect apartment houses, each to cost about $15,000.

Davies & Co. sold for F. E. McGillick to Susie B. Benton a 2-story frame house, lot 24x87 feet, on the southwest side of Mayflower street, Twenty-first ward, for $2,000.

George W. Mellott bought from A. Edwin Gregg an improved lot, 130x160 feet, on the north side of Willard avenue, near Lang avenue, Twenty-second ward, for $6,500. The same purchaser bought from Robert M. Reynolds an improved lot, 75x130 feet, on the east side of Hastings street, near Edgerton avenue, Twenty-second ward, for $5,500.

Large Deal Closed.

Several large sales are known to have been consummated yesterday, agreements having been drawn up and signed, one involving close to $200,000, but secrecy surrounds the transactions and both principals and brokers are determined nothing shall be divulged until details are all completed. It is also stated that a $40,000 sale was made in lower Liberty avenue, which is to be followed by the erection of a large warehouse on the site.

The Gardner hotel, McKees Rocks, has been sold to Adam Hardman for a price close to $15,500.

Kurtz's Record in This City.

David Kurtz, who was committed to the workhouse for 90 days yesterday by Magistrate Joseph H. Vitchestain on a charge of being a suspicious person, has been connected with previous thefts according to the police. He was arrested by Detective George Cole a few years ago and served a term in the penitentiary for burglary. He recently returned to this city and secured employment at the Monongahela house. Last week two of the guests reported robberies in their apartments. It was expected by the arrest of Kurtz some of the stolen property would be found, but he had none of it.

HAY QUOTATIONS SEEK LOWER RANGE

Straw Easier at Reduced Prices. Creamery Butter Makes a Quarter-Cent Advance.

Very heavy receipts of hay caused a reduction in the list of quotations, affecting all grades, the market being very unsteady, with offerings abundant. Receipts have been moderate for several weeks, but arrivals yesterday broke the record for the month and caused a weakening in the situation amounting to over 50c a ton in the matter of price. A good many oats came forward also, but the demand was good, and no change occurred in the list of quotations. Corn was in good and middlings went to a slightly higher range. Bran is unchanged. Straw is easy, and prices for oats and wheat went off 50c a ton. Rye is firm at higher prices.

The week opened with flour maintaining the position it occupied at the close last Saturday, quotations being steady. Coffee is unchanged, and refined sugar holds its own as last quoted. Cereals and beans are higher, while the same prices as ruled the market last week, and dried fruits are without change. In canned goods the feature was corn, which has again advanced, the increase amounting to 5c per dozen for standards, with fancy showing even more gain. Jobbers have had to make the advance to keep pace with packers' askings, but there is more interested as to whether these prices will hold if warm weather continues, as there is yet time to make some change in the condition of the corn crop.

There were few changes in fruits and produce. Watermelons are higher than they were last week, and are higher in price. Cantaloupes are unchanged. Tomatoes, while in good supply, are also in large demand, and prices are maintained. California peaches are a trifle stronger, but no real advance has occurred. Peaches from other points arrive slowly, and the market is firm.

Chickens are easy at quotations of last week, and other poultry remains unchanged. Demand is good, but there are liberal supplies now arriving which condition keeps the market steady.

A rather peculiar change was reported from Elgin yesterday in the price of butter, an advance of ¼c having been made. It is very unusual for the creamery butter quotations to fluctuate in quarters, advances and declines usually being ½c or more. Local jobbers were undecided last night as to just how to handle the change, some favoring keeping the price where it was, while others thought an advance of ½c should be made. Cheese is unchanged and eggs are as they were last Saturday, with quotations strong.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The market for coffee futures opened steady and unchanged prices to an advance of five points on the firm French cables, and turned easy later in the session under further liquidation following the heavy primary receipts. Much of the trading was due to switching from September to the later months in the vicinity of the ruling price. Total sales were 48,250 bags, including September at $5.80; October at $5.90; November at $5.95@6.00; December at $6.00@6.05; January at $6.05; March at $6.10@6.15; May at $6.20, and July at $6.30. WHEAT CLOSED HIGHER IN CHICAGO MARKET

Corn Was Lower With Oats Steady and Provisions Irregular With Little Change.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Wet weather and firmer cables were the early influence in wheat and prices opened higher. There was demand at the opening that forced prices up from the initial figures, which showed a gain of 5@6c to 7@8c for September at 69½@70c and 74½@75c for December. At 9 o'clock 1,000,000 bushels of wheat was reported sold privately, due to interruption of receipts at Minneapolis, and the market broke from 69½c for the former and 74½c for the latter to 70@70½c. The offerings were well taken and when the official cash strength again developed and the close was firm near the high point, September being up ¾c at 69½@70c, and December 1@1½c higher at 74½@74¾c. Primary receipts were 225,000 bushels, against 1,126,000 bushels last year. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 426 cars, which, with local receipts of 118 cars, 20 of contract grade, made total receipts for the three points of 529 cars, against 209 last week and 337 cars a year ago.

The weather was also the influence in the corn market, but being extremely favorable to a large crop big lines came out and caused considerable weakness early in the session. Scalpers bought freely and as offerings became restricted a scattered demand developed and firmness ensued, and much of the early loss was recovered. The close showed September ½c lower at 51½c, after ranging between 50¾@51½c. December closed ¼c lower at 51½c.

Heavy selling of May and December oats by local longs caused weakness early, but commission houses and some local traders checked the decline and the close was steady at Saturday's figures. The cash situation is still strong. September was a shade higher at 34½c, after selling between 34¾@34½c. December was 1c lower at 36¼c.

A strong hog market at the yards gave a firm provision undertone. Packers sold moderately on a small advance, while outside traders favored the long side. September pork closed unchanged at $12 87½, September lard was 2½c lower at $7 22½, while ribs were up 5c at $6 72½.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow—Wheat, 160 cars; corn, 450 cars; oats, 345 cars; hogs, 17,000 head.

WAYNE'S VICTORY WAS IMPORTANT

Gov. Pennypacker's Reasons for Fixing of Pennsylvania Day at St. Louis Exposition.

COMMISSIONERS ARE PLEASED

Without the Defeat of the Indians at Fallen Timbers the Louisiana Purchase Would Have Been of Little Avail. August 20, 1904, Selected.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Aug. 24.

The Pennsylvania commissioners to the Louisiana Purchase exposition are delighted with the official information received yesterday from the Louisiana Purchase exposition commission, that August 20, 1904, has been exclusively set apart in the program of special occasions at the St. Louis exposition, for Pennsylvania day. This result was brought about at the request of Gov. Pennypacker, this date having been previously assigned for Swiss day. Gov. Pennypacker was particularly anxious to have Pennsylvania day mark the celebration of the anniversary of the victory won by Maj. Gen. Anthony Wayne over the Indian tribes of the northwest, at the battle of Fallen Timbers, on the Maumee river.

Maj. Gen. Wayne, a Pennsylvanian, was then in command of the armies of the United States, and the governor maintains that without this victory over the Indians, the Louisiana purchase would have been of little avail.

Col. E. C. Culp, secretary of the committee on ceremonies of the Louisiana Purchase commission at St. Louis, entered heartily into the efforts to have this day given to Pennsylvania alone. He had a meeting of the Swiss society of St. Louis specially called to consider the request of the Pennsylvania commission, that they yield this day to Pennsylvania.

Swiss Day Changed.

Although considerable literature had been distributed announcing that August 20 had been assigned to the Swiss societies of the United States, the officials of those organizations finally surrendered to Pennsylvania, and accepted a new date, August 19, for their ceremonies. In consideration of this concession, the Pennsylvania commission has agreed to co-operate with the officers of the Swiss societies in promoting the success of Swiss day at the exposition.

Gov. Pennypacker made his suggestion to the committee in a letter to Henry F. Walton, chairman of the executive committee, in which he said:

I suggest that we select for Pennsylvania day at the Louisiana Purchase exposition August 20, 1904, that day being the anniversary of the victory won by Maj. Gen. Anthony Wayne, then in command of the armies of the United States, over the Indian tribes of the northwest at the battle of Fallen Timbers on the Maumee river. In the consideration of the results of the Louisiana purchase, this battle was of the greatest importance, since it broke the power of the northwestern Indians, aided by the British, and led to the settlement of the lands secured by that purchase and the organization of the western states. The event was the more significant because of the crushing defeats which had been before inflicted upon Harmer and St. Clair.

Importance of Victory.

Dr. Charles J. Stille, in his "Life of Wayne," says of this victory: "It is not easy to overestimate the importance from a national point of view of the victory over the savages at the falls of the Miami. It was one of the few in our history which we may call decisive.

"In opening the magnificent domain of the west to emigrants, secured in their life, liberty and property by laws of their own making, it may will be regarded, when we reflect upon the history of that vast region during the last 100 years, as having given birth to a new era in the history of American civilization. The millions of free men who now occupy the energetic and vigorous commonwealths lying between the Ohio and the Mississippi cherish the memory of Wayne as that of the man who by his sword made it possible for white men to live in peace and security in that garden spot of the world."

President Roosevelt, in his "The Winning of the West," says: "It was the most complete and important victory ever gained over the northwestern Indians during the 40 years' warfare to which it put an end, and it was the only concerted battle in which the whites lost more than their foes." The same writer says: "Of all men, Wayne was the best fitted for the work. In the revolutionary war no other general, American, British or French, won such a reputation for hard fighting and for daring, energy and dogged courage."

Very truly yours,
SAMUEL W. PENNYPACKER.

It is the purpose of the Pennsylvania commission to make Pennsylvania day a red letter event at the St. Louis exposition. The co-operation of the Pennsylvania society at St. Louis, composed of leading citizens of Missouri of which Col. George D. Reynolds is president, will no doubt greatly contribute to the success of the occasion.

GOVERNOR TAFT AND ADMIRAL EVANS AT ODDS

Conflict of Authority Between Them Will Have to Be Settled at Washington.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—A conference was held in the war department today between Acting Secretary of the Navy Darling and Acting Secretary of War Sanger to settle a long-pending controversy between Gov. Taft and Rear Admiral Evans, commanding the Asiatic station. The controversy has at times waxed rather tart and this is not the first time these departments have been appealed to.

The question at issue is whether naval officers attached to the Asiatic station and detailed for duty in the Philippine islands are under jurisdiction of the commander-in-chief of the Asiatic station, or the civil governor of the Philippines. It is charged that Admiral Evans has been in the habit of detaching naval officers from duty in the Philippines without consultation with Gov. Taft. He recently ordered Lieut.-Commander James M. Helm, who since March, 1899, has been on duty at Cavite, to return to the fleet. Gov. Taft desired Lieut.-Commander Helm to remain on duty at Cavite.

No definite decision was reached at today's conference. Acting Secretary Darling said Secretary Moody had previously passed on this same matter and he did not care to go back of the secretary's action. Meanwhile the order for Lieut.-Commander Helm's detachment stands.

DEMANDED PAY FOR MARRIAGE

Brokers Claimed $50,000 for Union of Austrian Count With Titusville Woman.

SWINDLING IS CHARGED

Prosecuted Clique Alleged to Have Furnished the Money to Finance Two Matrimonial Ventures and Slate Payment Was Refused.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, Aug. 24.—A clique of usurers and marriage brokers has been demanding $50,000 from Count Franz Joseph Maria von Larisch-Monnich, since his marriage with Miss Marie Sattertee of Titusville, Pa., at Buffalo, N. Y., in June, 1901, which sum the count has refused to pay. The public prosecutor has now brought proceedings against the usurers for attempted swindling.

Sometime before Count Larisch-Monnich visited America the accused persons assert they supplied him with funds to go to Nuremburg and court the daughter of Faber, the pencil manufacturer, and that the count signed a note for $50,000, payable on condition that he married Miss Faber. He went to Nuremburg, it is further asserted, properly supplied with cash, and paid his addresses to Miss Faber, but was not accepted.

Later, the count went to America, presumably at his own expense, and eventually married Miss Satterlee. The group, which avers that it financed the Faber affair, demanded $50,000, not on the conditional note, but on another, which, it is insisted Count Larisch-Monnich signed and which he refused to pay.

The public prosecutor was informed of the case by some one whose name does not appear and the matter was investigated with the result that the public prosecutor has instituted proceedings against a merchant, referred to as "R" in the statements given to the press, and against a retired cavalry captain. The trial has been set for the autumn term of the criminal court.

Count Larisch-Monnich belongs to the Austrian nobility. His father has an estate near Astrenitz, Prussia, and has become a naturalized German.

STEVENSON SAYS HE IS EAGER FOR PROBING

Fourteenth Ward Councilman Says Investigation of Health Bureau Will Begin Soon.

Common Councilman W. H. Stevenson returned yesterday from a summer vacation, much invigorated by an excursion up the St. Lawrence river, and announced that he was ready to resume his activity in council matters. Mr. Stevenson is chairman of the special committee appointed to investigate the health bureau. This committee was appointed at the request of Controller John B. Larkin, but has not started yet upon its investigation, owing to the failure to obtain a quorum at the first call.

Mr. Stevenson said yesterday that he would call another meeting just as soon as he was assured of a quorum. The controller claims there has been mismanagement and corruption in the health bureau and has asked for an investigation without making any definite charges. The controller claims that he will keep in the background during the investigation and that he does not expect to testify before the committee. He says he will give the committee all the information in his possession.

Health officials allege that Dr. R. L. Taylor, former city physician, is the source of Controller Larkin's information.

The bond issue of $225,000, which the department of public safety is required to ask from councils for the treatment of smallpox, owing to the failure of the finance committee and the controller's office to provide sufficient revenue in the current appropriations, will be touched upon in the investigation. This will be used by the health officials as a counter attack upon the controller's office and the chairman of the finance committee who is taking a leading part in the investigation.

Mr. Stevenson held a lengthy conference yesterday with Controller Larkin discussing details of the proposed investigation.

MINISTER AND DOCTOR ENGAGE IN FIST FIGHT

Physician Scores First Knock Down and Has His Clergyman Arrested for Assault.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 24.—A sensation was sprung here today, when Dr. R. G. Boak appeared before Alderman W. W. Cubbison and entered a charge of assault and battery against the Rev. Samuel A. Smith, pastor of the Croton Avenue Methodist church. Constable James Stitt served the warrant upon the Rev. Mr. Smith, who was released on his own recognizance for a hearing, the date of which has not yet been set. Boak is a member of the official board of the Rev. Mr. Smith's church.

Dr. Boak and the Rev. Mr. Smith are neighbors and have always been on friendly terms until Saturday evening. Both men are of athletic proclivities and have at times indulged in friendly boxing bouts in their back yards which adjoin. Dr. Boak alleges that while he was sprinkling his lawn Saturday evening Mr. Smith approached and said he had a notion to come over and knock the doctor's "block" off. Boak supposed the statement a jest and laughingly told the minister he could not do it. Mr. Smith then accused Boak of making derogatory remarks about him. Dr. Boak says the minister threw his coat and hat off and approached him in a threatening manner.

Boak struck the first effective blow and felled the minister, after which a lively mix-up followed. Neighbors witnessed the fight and separated the men.

DR. BAINBRIDGE ON HEALING

Says People Should Be More Careful of Their Bodies—Patent Medicines Kill Many and Onion Poultices Are Almost as Bad as Poison.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Today begins the last week of the season, and there is no petering out of the program, which will be just as strong this last week as at any time during the summer, and the attractions just as great as though it were the first of the season, instead of the last.

Dr. Lucock, who was so popular in Pittsburgh during his pastorate at the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal church, will conduct the devotional hour throughout the week, and gave his first talk this morning.

The Hon. George E. Clark of South Bend, Ind., lectured on "An Untitled Adventurer," by whom he meant Napoleon, in whose character, he says, there was nothing to admire nor love, save his strong will. Mr. Clark took occasion to denounce the loose divorce laws of our country. He says Napoleon's greatest crime was to divorce his wife, and divorce is one of the greatest crimes of today.

The case with which the marriage tie may be dissolved is responsible for much evil. In his capacity of a judge, he says, he often asks of a young man about to enter the penitentiary, or of a young woman on the downward path, "Where are your parents?" and in nine cases out of ten the answer will be, "They separated some time ago."

Dr. William S. Bainbridge of New York city gave the first of a series of five lectures on "The Art of Healing," in which he took great exception to patent medicines. He could not find words strong enough to express his contempt for them. The doctor says patent medicines are not what the label makes them to be. Many of them that cost the manufacturer about five cents a gallon, are sold for several dollars a quart. And that while the makers of these medicines become millionaires, thousands of their victims are sent to their graves. "We Americans must plead guilty along with less civilized nations, to much superstition, for we have plenty of it."

The doctor almost took away the breath of the grandmothers and nearly lost his reputation as a physician, by declaring that onion poultices were the worst things that could be used in any case, and that their evil results could be exceeded only by rank poison.

Dr. Bainbridge closed his lecture by expressing the wish that the people might be taught to be more economic, that have been made in the art of healing that they might appreciate what the science of medicine means and that they would be as fair to their bodies as to their souls.

USED NAMES OF MANY PITTSBURGH PERSONS

How the Plan Was Worked by the Alleged Bankers Raided in New York.

"Stock-selling was the game worked by Daniels & Co. of New York," said M. J. Dain, head of M. J. Dain & Co., in discussing yesterday the long list of Pittsburgh names which graced the books of the raided New York "banking" establishment.

"In some way Daniels & Co. had obtained the names of many individuals and companies in this city, choosing ones they thought could be made useful. These are the names found on the books.

"Several times persons have come to me with a patent to be exploited or an oil company to be formed, and said Daniels would do the work and guarantee to sell a large amount of stock in a short time on the payment down of only a few hundred dollars. All I could do was to tell them to be careful, as the promises seemed to be too large to be true. The firm sent out circulars telling in glowing terms of its facilities for selling stocks of any character and of the success it had met. New York is full of just such schemes."

VETERANS ARE IN FIGHTING HUMOR

Naval Constructor Capps Makes Objectionable Ruling at New York Yard.

PRESIDENT IS APPEALED TO

Kings County Grand Army Association Threatens Retaliation at the Polls Unless Their Demands Are Complied With and Capps Is Reversed.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 24.

Kings county G. A. R. organization has thrown down the gauntlet to President Roosevelt. In a letter to the president which has been referred to Acting Secretary Darling, George Jackson of Brooklyn, says that unless Naval Constructor Capps changes his policy in respect to the labor at the Brooklyn navy yard, the veterans of 31 posts in Kings county will "be heard from this fall."

In this letter, which is written by Mr. Jackson as secretary of the executive and memorial committee of the Kings county G. A. R. organization, it is set forth that Naval Constructor Capps proposes to hold, on August 25, an examination for a foreman laborer with pay of $4.50 a day.

Mr. Jackson declares that Naval Constructor Capps is doing this because the quarterman in charge of the workmen over which it is now proposed to place a foreman, declined to recommend for discharge veterans of the civil war. This quarterman is W. H. Hart, himself a veteran. The letter says that he recommended the veterans be given lighter work, but Constructor Capps ignored it. Mr. Jackson goes on to say that Constructor Capps proposes to dispossess this quarterman of his position after a foreman is chosen and that then the foreman will weed out the veterans. Mr. Jackson asks that "justice be done" and no examination be held.

In the bureau of construction and repair it is said the work of some of the veterans is unsatisfactory, but that when veterans are in charge of workingmen they fail to report the deficiencies of those workmen who are veterans.

The letter has been sent to Naval Constructor Capps who will make a report on the situation. The department's guidance in replying to Mr. Jackson. Meanwhile Acting Secretary Darling has addressed a courteous letter to Mr. Jackson acknowledging the receipt of the letter, ignoring its threat and saying the request will be given proper consideration. Mr. Jackson also is assured that justice will certainly be done.

TRIP TO PITTSBURGH RUDELY INTERRUPTED

New York Wife's Suit for Separation Causes Dr. Valadier's Arrest.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Marian Valadier, who has a case pending against her husband, Dr. August Charles Valadier, in the West Side police court charging abandonment, has brought suit in the supreme court for a separation, charging cruel and inhuman treatment.

On her affidavit that he had sold his business and was going to Pittsburgh, Justice McCall today issued a warrant for Dr. Valadier's arrest and he was taken into custody and admitted to bail of $2,000.

Mrs. Valadier says they were married in New York February 4, 1899, and remarried at Rochester, N. Y., in 1902, the reason for the re-marriage being that if she learned that her former husband, who had been informed was dead, and had so understood for five years before I married the defendant, was alive at the time I married the defendant."

Asthma & Hay Fever Cured.

The truly marvelous cures of Asthma which are being effected by Dr. Schiffmann's Asthma Cure certainly call for notice.

Rev. G. L. Taylor, of Washburn, Ill., says: "Some 7 years ago my wife used several packages of your Asthma Cure which resulted in a permanent cure."

A Hay Fever sufferer writes: "I have been a sufferer from Hay Fever for over 20 years, and it seemed harder every year. The first night I used your Asthma Cure I was greatly relieved. It cured my cough after using a few times. I shall recommend it to all sufferers of Hay Fever." Mrs. Martha Simerson, Lainsburg, Mich.

Mr. W. Serenus, Cavalier, N. D., says: "I was troubled with Asthma for 20 years, about 8 years ago I started to use your Asthma cure, and have not had an attack for six years."

Sold by all druggists at 50c and $1.00. Send 2c stamp to Dr. R. Schiffmann, Box 895, St. Paul, Minn., for a free trial package.

GLUTTONY

Is more common than we may think, if we define gluttony as eating beyond the body's need of sustenance and beyond the stomach's capacity for digestion and assimilation of food. That is a fair definition, and it fastens the name glutton on many a person who would resent the term as an insult. The fact of this gluttony is marked by its consequences. The overloaded stomach becomes diseased. The popular term for the condition is "weak" stomach. The "weak" stomach fails in furnishing adequate nutrition for the body, and soon the "weakness" spreads from the stomach to other organs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect assimilation of food, by which alone the health and strength of the body is maintained.

"Your medicine helped me so much that I cannot praise it too highly," writes Mrs. C. L. Brooks, of Poland, Androscoggin Co., Me. "The first dose I took helped me. I cannot forget how I felt when I took it. I was suffering everything with indigestion and my stomach was so bloated that it seemed as though it must burst. My husband said he was going for the doctor, but I said if he would get me a bottle of the Golden Medical Discovery I would try that. I had not taken it long when I felt relieved, and have not had a touch of indigestion or stomach trouble since. I had been sick for four years, and less than four bottles cured me. Some people that knew me before I began to take the 'Golden Medical Discovery' tell me that they never saw such a change in any one, and they also say they don't see how I can do such large washings as I do now, when I had not done a washing for so long."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure biliousness.
